BRITAIN FACES HISTORIC CHOICE IN EU REFERENDUM

On June 23 voters must decide: "Should the United Kingdom remain a member of the European Union or leave the European Union?"

Infographic titled 'BRITAIN STRONGER IN EUROPE' and 'VOTE LEAVE'. It includes a map of the UK, statistics on population, EU membership, and a timeline of events from 1946 to 2016. It also features portraits of David Cameron, Jeremy Corbyn, Nigel Farage, and Boris Johnson.

Britain's identity crisis and Brexit

First Scottish independence, now the EU: holding two potentially seismic referendums in two years reveals how Britain is wrestling with its identity, stuck between nostalgia for an empire lost and an uncertain future. Even though the country has an open, cosmopolitan image -- and London is one of the most vibrant cities in the world -- Britain is suffering inside from an existential malaise, unsure of its place in the modern world, say historians.

Hong Kong most expensive city for expatriates

Hong Kong has overtaken Angola's capital to become the costliest city in the world for expats, Mercer's annual survey said yesterday. After topping the Cost of Living report for three consecutive years, Luanda was pipped by the Asian city in 2016, owing to a stronger Hong Kong dollar.

Brexit: A long, complicated divorce

A British exit from the European Union would plunge the two parties into a messy divorce and force them build a new relationship after a long marriage. Here are the next steps in a complicated process that Brussels and London would have to negotiate if Britons vote for a "Brexit" in the June 23 referendum.
