

No More Minefields

Game of Thrones and Silicon Valley finally got their finales. On the downside, no more GoT and SV; on the upside, we can finally be online at peace on Mondays. Not only that, Messi retired because he got tired of playing for the footballing equivalent of the South African cricket team. What a week it has been for us. With the 9-day Eid holidays coming up, I hope y'all take a rest from such a hectic month and go somewhere nice. Like Noakhali. Noakhali is amazing. It really is, trust me on this. I am qualified.

THIS WEEK'S HORRORSCOPE

ARIES
 Your life is as complicated as that jilapi you are having.

TAURUS
 Duck duck goose, don't give up on that mousse.

GEMINI
 Go for the B1G1 iftar this week. You might get lucky.

CANCER
 Nobody likes burnt halim. Neither should you.

LEO
 You need to have "the talk" with your piyaju.

VIRGO
 You know what rhymes with burgers? Burglars.

LIBRA
 You either get Rooh Afza or lemonade. You can't have both.

SCORPIO
 The only date you deserve is a date with your dates.

SAGITTARIUS
 Your job this week is to come to terms with the fact that mango season is almost over.

CAPRICORN
 Watch out for the chicken that's going to haunt you in your dreams.

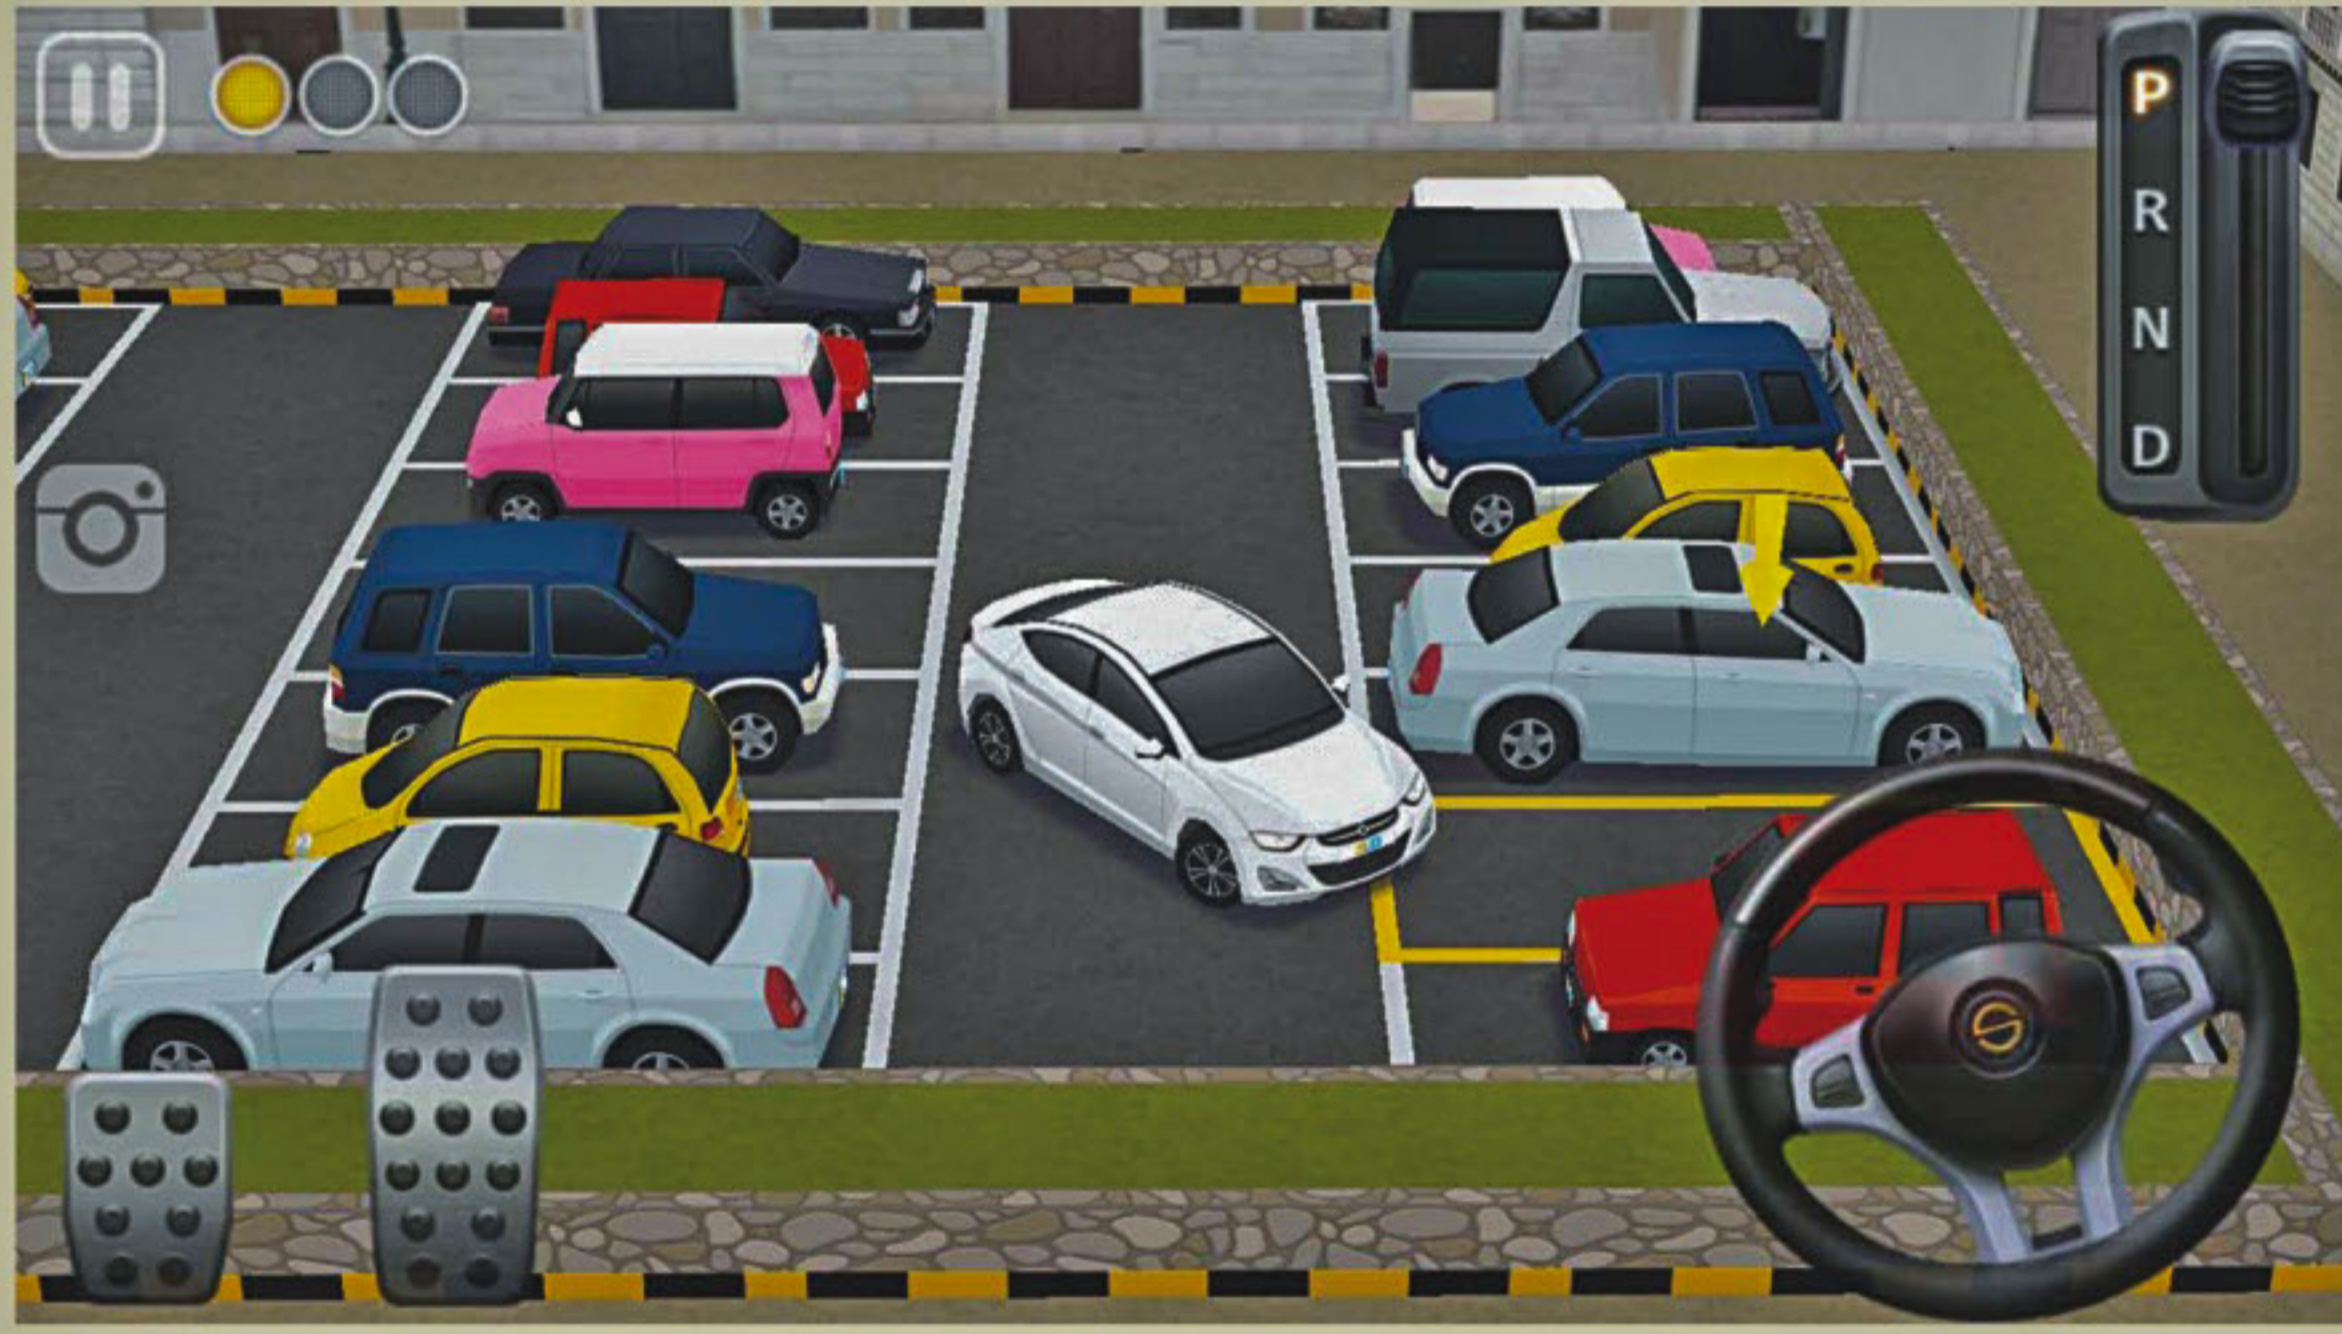

AQUARIUS
 Is this cake, or is this reality?

PISCES
 Don't forget to cut uniform pieces of that pineapple.

APP REVIEW

DR. PARKING 4

NONY KHONDAKER

Platforms: Android, iOS
 App Size: 14 MB

While there are various parking and driving simulators available for the mobile platform, the ones by Studio Up Down have been clearly dominating the genre for some years now. Their latest game, Dr. Parking 4 is an overall improvement over its predecessors.

Dr. Parking 4 is quite similar to its predecessors, with improved visuals and more polished gameplay. The previous versions heavily focused on the single-player portion but this version is more focused on multi-player albeit the single-player portion is still there. Upon opening the game, you are given the option to choose a car and then play either in multiplayer mode or in the single-player mode which has now been dubbed as the "practice" mode. The HUD is neat and is conveniently customisable. Options for both left-hand drive and right-hand drive are there. One aspect where the developers went a bit backwards is that there is no option to control the sensitivity of the steering wheel. There are multiple camera modes including a view from the driver's seat which in my opinion provides the most immersive experience. Besides referring to the rear view mirrors for assistance, players can also pay attention to the newly added proximity sensor. Overall, Dr. Parking 4 is a simple game with considerably good visuals and engaging gameplay. Ignoring the absurd amount of microtransactions, this game can be a very helpful when you need to kill some time.
