

"Signing a movie doesn't brand you as a Hollywood actor" - Priyanka

Bollywood's Desi girl Priyanka Chopra, who is all set to take over the West with her much-awaited film "Baywatch," feels that signing a movie does not brand anyone as a Hollywood actor.

Interacting with the media on the sidelines of IIFA 2016, the actress said, "Signing a movie does not make you a Hollywood actor. Let the movie release first. I am very excited about

"Baywatch" release."

When asked whether she is willing to play the lead actress in Sanjay Leela Bhansali's next, Priyanka said she is right now busy with the "Quantico" shoot and, therefore, can't do any other films till March.

Speaking about the IIFA night, Priyanka won the best performance in a supporting role (female) for her performance in "Bajirao Mastani."

TRUST IS EVERYTHING

Chloe Grace Moretz & Brooklyn Beckham

Actress Chloe Grace Moretz says trust and communication are the reason for the success of her long distance relationship with Brooklyn Beckham. The 'Neighbors 2: Sorority Rising' star lives in Los Angeles, while her 17-year-old boyfriend is based in London.

"It's all trust and communication. You have to have a model of trust and leave it up in the air and make sure you can hope for the best. Make sure you're both invested, then you're good to go," Moretz said. However, the duo does miss each other and Beckham recently shared a photo of Moretz, on his Instagram with the caption, "When you're missing bae."
