

SNOOP DOGG leads Peaceful March

Snoop Dogg and the Game led a peaceful march to Los Angeles Police Department headquarters urging for improved relation between minority communities and the police.

The demonstration was organized by the rappers five hours after five police officers were shot in Dallas. Snoop urged to erase the fear of one another on both sides and start cultivating a new improved relation between the two groups.

In an instagram post, the Game said women and children should stay home while men, regardless of their race, should march to make law enforcement as such, so that for the days to come, the minorities be unified and not let them hunt or be hunted by anyone.

EMRAAN HASHMI TO DELIVER MOTIVATIONAL SPEECH

Bollywood heartthrob Emraan Hashmi has been invited by the American Cancer Society (ACS) to deliver a motivational speech about cancer awareness, according to a daily. He has published a book on cancer earlier this year inspired by his son Ayaan's fight against the disease. The actor is currently on a break with family but will schedule the same work for Children's Day on November 14. Emraan Hashmi had made vows previously to provide donation from the sales of his book for the treatment of cancer patients who can not afford the high cost associated with the treatment. He is also planning on producing a documentary based on the book to motivate people.

LIV TYLER GIVES BIRTH TO HER SECOND CHILD

The "Leftover" actress Liv Tyler and David Gardner welcomed their second child on July 10, 2016 and have named their daughter Lula Rose.

This is Liv's third child, and second with fiancé David Gardner. She announced her pregnancy on January 8, 2016 right after she uploaded a black and white picture to her Instagram account. She mentions that she feels very blessed to have her third child and she is very happy to see how quickly her family is expanding.

Liv is also mom to 11-year-old Milo and 8-year-old Grey.