BB general manager arrested

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Anti-Corruption Commission yesterday arrested a general manager of Bangladesh Bank in a case filed in connection with misappropriation of Tk 325 crore of AB Bank between 2011 and 2013 when he was a deputy managing director of the private bank.

Though the Chittagong-based Rising Steel Mills (RSM) Ltd had failed to reimburse a large amount of debt, the then DMD of AB Bank Badrul Haque Khan and the then general manager of the bank's principal branch M Fazlur Rahman continued to disburse loans to the company against insufficient security money.

According to the ACC, BNP Joint Secretary General Aslam Chowdhury, who has been arrested in a sedition case, RSM's Chairman Jamila Naznin Mawla, managing director of RSM Amzad Hossain Chowdhury and director of RSM Jasim Uddin Chowdhury in collaboration with Badrul and Fazlur "pocketed" the money.

A case was filed in this connection with Double Mooring Police Station in Chittagong on Saturday.

Erdogan cracks down after coup attempt

More than 6,000 detained in Turkey; US urges rule of law, France says failed putsch 'not blank cheque' for Erdogan

AFP, Istanbul

Turkish authorities yesterday pressed on with a ruthless crackdown against suspects in the failed coup against President Recep Tayyip Erdogan, with 6,000 people including generals and judges detained in a move that has sparked international concern.

World leaders including US President Barack Obama have strongly condemned the attempted putsch but also urged Turkey to respect the rule of law in its aftermath, especially after pictures emerged showing the rough treatment of some coup plotters when arrested.

Justice Minister Bekir Bozdog said yesterday that around 6,000 people had been detained in "clean-up operations" and that the number would rise.

And a resurgent Erdogan told a crowd of thousands at a funeral for the victims in Istanbul that there would be no let-up in the fight against his enemy Fethullah Gulen, the US-based preacher he accuses of masterminding the coup.

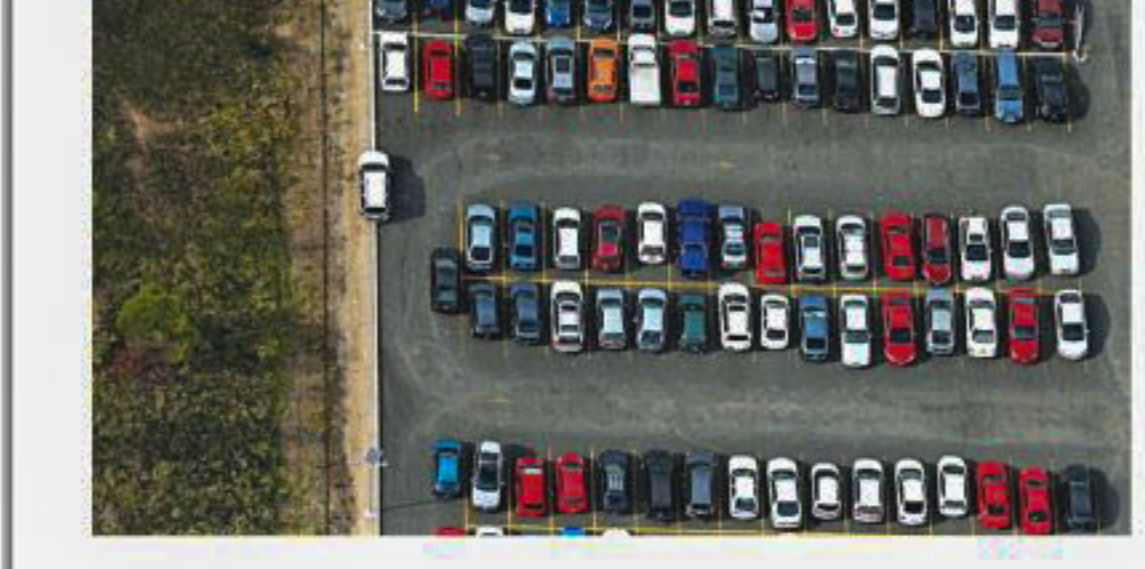

"We will continue to clean the virus from all state bodies because this virus has spread. Unfortunately like a cancer, this virus has enveloped the state," he said.

According to the government, 161 civilians and

Robot-controlled parking in China

DNA INDIA ONLINE

China's first parking lot, that will use an automated guided vehicle (AGV) robot to park the cars in just two minutes, will open in east China's Nanjing in October, the robot maker said yesterday.

Drivers guide their cars on to the laser-guided AGV robot which is in the shape of a movable platform, and it places the vehicle in an available port.

Shenzhen-based Yeefung Automation Technology Co Ltd said the robot can transfer a car into a carport in about two minutes. Wu Hao, Yeefung general manager, said the company developed the robot in response to limited parking in big cities across the world.

He said the robot will help new and experienced drivers alike.

AGV robots can maximise parking space in lots by around 20-40 percent. Although adding such a robot would give an extra cost of 70,000 yuan (USD 10,465) to each carport, it would help operators earn profits by improving efficiency, Wu was
