

PANAM, SYMBOL DECAYING HERITAGE

EVEN though the government declared Panam Nagar in Sonargaon of Narayanganj an archaeologically protected site over a decade ago, it is yet to take any initiative for the conservation of the century-old heritage. Experts and archaeologists say if the government does not take a quick step to preserve the Panam Nagar, known as the lost city, it will be ruined and lost forever. The battered state of the heritage also baffles tourists.

Photo: ANISUR RAHMAN

