Quader tells parliament

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The construction of the Padma bridge will be visible from December, Minister for Road Transport and Bridges Obaidul Quader told parliament yesterday.

"The work for setting spans on piers of the Padma bridge will begin in December and January next year," Quader said while replying to lawmakers' queries.

The minister said 38 percent of its construction had already been completed.

Replying to a query, Quader said the government was going to implement the country's 55km first expressway from Dolairpar point of Mayor Mohammad Hanif Flyover to Bhanga of Faridpur via Buriganga-1 bridge and the Padma bridge.

He said a number of flyovers will also be built under the expressway project along with service lanes to expedite the road communication of south-western region.

On road accidents, he assured that the government was working to ensure safety on the highways by identifying blackspots.

The 12th session of the 10th parliament that began yesterday will continue until October 10.

The decision came at the 12th meeting of the Business Advisory Committee of the current parliament at the Jatiya Sangsad with Speaker Shirin Sharmin Chaudhury in the chair.

The meeting also decided that the Speaker will be able to either extend or reduce the working days of the current session.

SC stays bail of ex-BASIC Bank officer

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The Supreme Court yesterday stayed till October 31 a High Court verdict that granted permanent bail to sacked deputy managing director of BASIC Bank Fazlus Sobhan in two corruption cases.

Following two petitions filed by the Anti-Corruption Commission (ACC) seeking stay on the HC verdict of September 8, the apex court asked the ACC to file two leave to appeals with the SC against the HC verdict by October 31.

Now, Fazlus cannot get released from jail, said ACC's lawyer Khurshid Alam Khan.

On January 8, the ACC arrested Fazlus at the capital's Motijheel in two corruption cases involving Tk 58 crores. The arrest followed the filing of over 50 cases by the ACC in September last year against a number of bankers and borrowers linked with the Tk 5,000-crore BASIC Bank scam that took place between 2010 and 2013.

He made the remarks at a press briefing at BNP's Nayapalton central office in the capital a day after State Minister for Power and Energy Nasrul Hamid's comment that the construction work on Rampal power plant will not be suspended.

The BNP leader also criticised the prime minister for her remarks in an interview with the Voice of America that there is an adequate scope for doing politics in Bangladesh now, saying there is no iota of truth in her comment.

Dudu, also a BNP vice-chairman, alleged the Indian power company BHEL, which has been awarded the contract to set up the plant, did not provide Unesco with adequate information about the technology and equipment to be used to check the environmental affect to the Sundarbans.

On behalf of BNP, he called upon all to get united against the government's obstinate attitude towards setting up the power plant.

consequences, police said.

Using the fake identities, the criminals cheated people in districts including Dinajpur, Rajshahi, Rangpur, Bogra and Sirajganj, he said.

On how the criminals got their hands on a handcuff with police inscribed in it, Baten said such items were sold in different markets.

"The rule is that one (police) has to give his identity and show his identity card number to the seller before buying those. But these are not implemented. Thus people who are not entitled are getting the items," he said.

On whether there is a lack of supervision, he said there was a board which monitored it.

On primary interrogation, they admitted to be extortionists, he added. A case was filed with Ramna Police Station.
