Seismic surveys for Ctg flyovers urgent
Experts tell meeting

Seismic surveys for the under-construction and existing flyovers have to be conducted to know about their earthquake resistance capacity, said experts at a meeting in Chittagong yesterday. The meeting of the sub-committee-1 of the standing committee on planning ministry was held with the officials of Chittagong Development Authority in CDA's conference room. At the meeting, the Chittagong University of Engineering and Technology (Cuet) former vice chancellor Prof Jahangir Alam said the resistance capacity of the flyovers had to be examined as the country was experiencing earthquake "frequently". Cuet teacher Abdur Rahman said, "It seems to us that the quality of the construction work of Muradpur flyover has been improved." But its quake resistance has to be reexamined, he said. CDA Chairman Abdus Salam, however, told the meeting that the newly built flyovers were able to tolerate earthquake measuring up to 8 on the Richter scale. The sub-committee, which is entrusted with finding out flaws in flyover construction countrywide, will also look into corruption, if any, in the projects, said the sub-committee member lawmaker Shamsul Haque Chowdhury. They will submit a report to the planning ministry after visiting the sites and talking to experts, he added. The sub-committee convener Md Tazul Islam was present on the occasion. After the meeting, they visited the Lalkhan Bazar, Kadamtali and Bahaddarhat flyovers in the port city.

The two other keynote speakers were former Irish president Mary Robinson and poverty activist and musician Bob Geldof. The flag ceremony took place with one of the 10 young delegates accompanying Yunus to the summit as the flag bearer for Bangladesh. The global forum brings together the young delegates between ages 18 and 30. During the three-day summit, young leaders from all around the world will present their work and interact and learn from the counsellors who are global leaders in different fields at the Shaw Centre in Canada's capital on global issues. This is the seventh One Young World Summit. Yunus has been a counsellor since the first summit. Earlier in the day, under the auspices of the One Young World, a special forum on social business took place where Yunus delivered a master class on social business. During the six hour event, there were presentations and panels on social business from Bangladesh and from Canadian practitioners and universities that are getting involved in social business.

Health and Family Welfare Minister Mohammad Nasim said the public hospitals have limited capacity, and then came a large private sector, charging higher fees. There are also groups within the doctors' associations who often lobby for various interests, he said. PDU President Prof Shahidullah Sikder said charges for diagnostic tests and ICUs are often too high and sometimes unnecessary. Regulating those anomalies through appropriate regulations can help ensure low-cost healthcare, he noted. Samyabadi Dal Secretary General Dilip Barua said healthcare is gradually becoming commercialised. "This trend is anti-people," he said. Bangabandhu Sheikh Mujib Medical University (BSMMU) Prof Dr Laila Arjumana Banu in her keynote suggested introducing health insurance for the poor and improve nutrition, water and sanitation and waste management systems for overall health development. Liberation War Affairs Minister AKM Mozammel Huq, BSMMU Pro-Vice Chancellor (Administration) Prof Sharfuddin Ahmed, Gononantri Party leaders Arsha Ali and SK Sikder and PDU General Secretary Dr Apurba Pandit also spoke.

Novo Nordisk organises health camp
STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Novo Nordisk, the world's largest insulin manufacturer, yesterday organised a Diabetes Awareness Camp for the staff of The Daily Star at the newspaper's office in the capital. A total of 305 employees of the English daily were screened at the camp. Two doctors gave advice on how to maintain healthy diet. Around 7.1 million people are living with diabetes in Bangladesh, according to International Diabetes Federation.

HRW accuses security forces of shooting detainees
STAFF CORRESPONDENT
Security forces in Bangladesh are deliberately shooting members and supporters of opposition parties in the leg, alleged Human Rights Watch (HRW) in a report yesterday. In its report -- "No Right to Live: 'Kneecapping' and Maiming of Detainees by Bangladesh Security Forces", the rights group claimed the victims said that police shot them in custody and then falsely claimed that they were shot in self-defense, in crossfire with armed criminals, or during violent protests.

Govt considering giving

"Thus, political leaders, workers and civilians were deprived of justice in getting the gallantry awards," he said. The minister said no political leaders, except one or two civilians, including Mofazzal Hossain Chowdhury Maya, got the gallantry awards, he added. "So questions were raised again and again why civilians did not get the awards." The minister said civilian freedom fighters were applying to be considered for the awards. "I've drawn attention of the prime minister in this regard and told her that it would be discriminatory (if civilians are not awarded). In the future, a perception might be created in history that the war was a military war, and it will be tough to prove that it was a political or mass people's war." The minister said they knew about the glorious role of Shubid Ali Bhuiyan in the war. If the government decides to confer the gallantry awards again, Bhuiyan will be considered for his role in the Kumira battle against the Pakistani occupation forces in 1971 in Chittagong, he said.
