

HONOURS

Singer-songwriter Bob Dylan has been honoured with many accolades throughout his career in show business. Among the countless nominations, we provide you with the list of some of the awards he has won over the years.

GRAMMY AWARDS:

- 1973 Album of the Year
- 1980 Best Rock Vocal Performance, Male
- 1995 Best Traditional Folk Album
- 1998 Album of the Year; Best Contemporary Folk Album; Best Rock Vocal Performance, Male
- 2002 Best Contemporary Folk Album
- 2007 Best Solo Rock Vocal Performance; Best Contemporary Folk/Americana Album
- 2016 Best Traditional Pop Vocal Album; Best Historical Album

OTHERS:

- 1980 GMA Dove Award for Album by a

- Secular Artist
- 2000 Academy Award for Best Original Song; Polar Music Prize
- 2001 Golden Globe Award for Best Original Song
- 2007 Prince of Asturias Awards
- 2008 Pulitzer Prize Special Citations and Awards
- 2009 National Medal of Arts
- 2012 Presidential Medal of Freedom
- 2013 Officier de la Legion d'honneur
- 2016 Nobel Prize in Literature (yet to be claimed)

SOURCE: WIKIPEDIA

ARTISTS' TRIBUTE TO BOB DYLAN

Very few artists in rock history have seen more of their songs covered than Bob Dylan. It began in 1963 when "Blowin' In The Wind" became a standard song recorded by everyone from Peter, Paul and Mary to Sam

Cooke and Stevie Wonder. During the next few years the Byrds, the Hollies, Sonny and Cher and too many others to count dove onto the Dylan bandwagon. Elvis Presley even got into the act when he laid down a version of "Tomorrow Is a Long Time" in 1966. To honour his 75th birthday, the Rolling Stone readers were asked to select their favourite Bob Dylan covers. Below are the results.

1. Jimi Hendrix: "All Along the Watchtower"
2. The Byrds: "Mr. Tambourine Man"
3. Guns N' Roses: "Knockin' on Heaven's Door"
4. Robert Plant: "One More Cup of Coffee"
5. Them: "It's All Over Now, Baby Blue"
6. The Band: "I Shall Be Released"
7. Calexico and Jim James: 'Going to Acapulco'
8. Eddie Vedder: "Masters of War"
9. Jeff Buckley: "Mama, You've Been On My Mind"
10. Jeff Buckley: "Just Like a Woman"

SOURCE: ROLLING STONE