

REBECCA FERGUSON TO BE SEEN IN THE BIOPIC "THE LADY AND THE PANDA"

Rebecca Ferguson will be seen in the upcoming historical adventure film, titled "The Lady and the Panda", as Ruth Harkness. The filming is expected to commence shooting next month in China, in the foothills of the Himalayas. The movie is a biopic of Harkness, who was the first person to bring a live panda from China to the United States. Along with Chinese guide Quentin Young, she travelled into the uncharted territories of the Himalayas, where, against all odds, they saved an orphaned baby panda.

Ferguson will be seen in her next film playing the female lead in "Life", along with Ryan Reynolds and Jake Gyllenhaal, and will co-star with Michael Fassbender in "The Snowman". She will also return for the sixth instalment of "Mission: Impossible", with Tom Cruise and Jeremy Renner.
