Bridge lying broken for 10 years!

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Jhalakathi

A broken bridge on a Jhalakathi canal in Sadar upazila has been lying unrepaired for about ten years, much to the suffering of thousands of people.

The bridge was damaged in 2007 when a sand-laden cargo vessel rammed into it, said local farmer Abdur Rashid, adding that it was constructed in 1999 by the Local Government Engineering Department (LGED).

The bridge links Jhalakathi Sadar and Swarupkathi of Pirojpur, as well as Banaripara of Barisal.

The broken part of the bridge is still lying in the canal, disturbing movement of hundreds of goods-laden trawlers that cross the canal every day.

The canal is used as a shortcut for going to Swarupkathi, a renowned business centre, from Jhalakathi, said Rafiqul Islam, an agro-businessman of the area.

Every day, farmers have to pay extra to cross the canal on ferries because most of them have their lands across the canal, farmers said.

"I and some of my workers cross the canal four times a day, and we have to pay Tk

5 per head, per trip," said Md Shahid, another farmer.

"My large trawler cannot pass through the canal due to the broken portion of the bridge," said Nurul Alam, a trawler driver.

"The road was a good source of earning for us because passengers used the shortcut for going to Banaripara or Swarupkathi, but our income has decreased after the bridge broke," said Saidur Rahman, a rental motor-bike rider of Jhalakathi college intersection area.

"We informed the authorities concerned several times, but to no avail," villagers said.

Upazila engineer of LGED Md Sharifud Daula said a proposal for reconstructing the bridge was sent to the higher authorities two months ago.

"The broken portion of the bridge will be removed as soon as possible after a meeting of the upazila law and disciplinary committee," he added.

"We repeatedly informed the higher authorities but they did not allot any fund for the bridge. That is why we could not remove the broken bridge," said Md Selim Sarkar, executive engineer of LGED, who joined three years ago.

Quality seed crisis worries potato growers in N-dists

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Dinajpur

Acute crisis of quality seeds in the ongoing potato cultivation season has become a cause of concern for the potato growers in eight northern districts under Rangpur region as they are not getting expected production.

Potato growers in the region are worried as Bangladesh Agriculture Development Corporation (BADC) could not supply sufficient quantity of the seeds in the face of their growing demand.

According to Rangpur regional office of Department of Agriculture Extension (DAE) the demand for potato seeds in eight northern districts is 2.5 lakh tonnes this year but BADC supplied only 5,000 tonnes.

Beside, farmers produced about 30 percent seeds of the total demand while the rest are purchased from the local markets.

Of the total demand, about 78,000 tonnes of potatoes seeds are required in Rangpur district but BADC could supply only 800 tonnes.

Ruhul Amin, potato grower in Belgangi village in Dinajpur Sadar upazila, said although the seeds available in the local markets are too expensive, they get merely half of their expected production.

"Although there is a huge demand for seeds produced by the BADC for its quality, the corporation cannot even meet half of the total demand," said Rafiqul Islam of Kaunia upazila of Rangpur.

Farmers in the region urged the government to rearrange BADC's activities properly so that it can produce the required quantity as per the growers' demand.

Several farmers alleged that they are paying additional Tk 20 for buying each kilogram of potato seeds this year as seeds available in the local markets are their only alternative source.

Farmer Bashir Uddin in Dinajpur Sadar upazila said, "All the seeds available in the local markets are packed in good-looking packets to attract the farmers, but its quality is really a worry for the farmers."

An official of BADC in Rangpur said they have taken various steps to stop marketing of substandard seeds in the region.

The government is taking measures to import quality seeds from reputed countries through BADC and the farmers would get BT brinjal and disease resistant jute seeds though the corporation within the next three to four years, the official added.

Hamidur Rahman, director of DAE in Rangpur, acknowledged the crisis of quality seeds in the Rangpur region, adding that they are trying to resolve the crisis in a short time.
