

Syed Shamsul Haq poet of poets

Discussion marking his birthday told

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

A polymath litterateur, Syed Shamsul Haq was a teacher of literature and poet of the poets, said leading eminent writers and litterateurs while celebrating his 81st birth anniversary in the capital yesterday.

He consciously wanted to sever various social taboos and forge greater unity instead of compartmentalisation of literary works, said eminent writer Sajjad Sharif in tribute to the late poet at the celebration organised by Daily Star Books at The Daily Star Centre.

He paved the way for future writers both in prose and poetry, said writer Hamin Kamrul Haque, adding that he was industrious and courageous.

In creative pursuit, Syed Shamsul Haq was ahead of his time, said his wife noted author Anwara Syed Haq. He, however, was often misjudged by his literary compatriots, she said.

He will remain unforgettable for his omnipresence in Bangla literature, said noted author and teacher Prof Syed Manzoorul Islam, adding that his lifestyle was as elegant as the purity of his poetry. He fondly cherished the vigour of youthfulness in him and possessed the rare attribute of inspiring others, said Manzoorul.

Open space for children in urban plan urgent

Roundtable of BIP, Save the children told

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Open space for children should be emphasised in urban plans for their healthy growth, said speakers at a roundtable yesterday.

Due to a lack of playgrounds and parks, and physical activities, children living in cities often suffer from obesity or other physical problems like vitamin D and calcium deficiency, said Moinul Islam, a town planner of Narayanganj City Corporation.

At the roundtable held in the capital's Planners Tower by the Bangladesh Institute of Planners (BIP) and Save the Children, speakers urged the government and planners to undertake area wise development plans including educational institution, hospital, park and playground.

Housing and Building Research Institute Director Mohammad Abu Sadeque said Dhaka can still become a better city through a proper plan where not only children but also women and people who are aged and have disabilities will benefit.

Dr AKM Abul Kalam, president of BIP, said the city corporations and municipalities need more expert hands for preparing a better urban plan while government officials need to work more actively.

Ishita Alam Abonee, a project analyst of the World Bank, said proper monitoring is needed to implement the development plans of city corporations and municipalities.

Adil Mohammed Khan, joint secretary of BIP, urged the planners to take opinions from children while making their plans.

Prof Dr Shamsul Alam, senior secretary of Planning Commission; Mahmuda Sharmin Benu, additional secretary (planning) to the Ministry of Women and Children Affairs; Mirza Ali Ashraf, deputy secretary to the Ministry of Disaster Management and Relief; and Maruf Hossain, a programme manager of Work for a Better Bangladesh Trust; also spoke.

Bangladesh must use its water properly

Minister tells water convention

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Bangladesh has to manage its water properly for ensuring a sustainable water regime, Water Resources Minister Anisul Islam Mahmud said yesterday.

Addressing the inauguration session of the National Water Convention 2016, he said 80 percent of the water that Bangladesh has flowed through the country in the four months of the rainy season, while the remaining 20 percent flowed in eight months.

"But we don't have a proper water distribution system," he said.

Palli Karma-Sahayak Foundation (PKSF), NGO Forum for Public Health, and Bangladesh Unnayan Parishad (BUP) jointly organised the two-day convention in the PKSF auditorium.

Dr Qazi Kholiquzzaman Ahmad, chairman of PKSF, chaired the programme.

"When we get a huge amount of water, we don't preserve it. Our rivers, canals, haors, and bills should have held the water but we have filled them up and grabbed them to build houses," said Anisul, delivering his speech as chief guest.

"If we want to ensure availability of water, we have to

Terrorism no jihad: Inu

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Terrorism is neither a form of jihad nor religious revolution, rather a heinous and inhumane crime having no link with religion, said Information Minister Hasanul Haq Inu yesterday, urging the media not to mix up Islam with terrorism.

Addressing as chief guest the annual general meeting of Crime Reporters Association of Bangladesh (CRAB) in the capital, he said the government would discuss about the 9th wage board for journalists in an upcoming meeting and he would talk on inclusion of "risk allowance" for crime reporters.

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The International Crimes Tribunal-1 yesterday directed the prosecution to submit formal charges on March 12 next year in the case filed against six Gaibandha men allegedly for committing crimes during the Liberation War, 1971.

The two-member tribunal led by Justice Anwarul Haque fixed the date after prosecutor Mukhlesur Rahman Badal yesterday sought three months for preparing the formal charges as he received the investigation report and other documents against the six on December 21.

The accused are Abdul Jabbar Mondal, 86, Jachijar Rahman alias Khoka, 64, Abdul Wahed Mondal, 62, Montaz Alia Bepari alias Momtaz, 68, Ajgar Hossain Khan, 66, and Ranju Miah, 59, all from Gaibandha Sadar upazila.

Ranju is now in jail while the rest are on the run.

Tribunal's investigation agency on December 21 completed the investigation. The six were involved in four incidents -- killing one Hindu man, torturing two Hindu women and forcing around 400 Hindus of the sadar upazila's Sahapara union to leave the country; killing nine people at Nandina village and looting around 50 houses; killing five people at Doulatpur village; and killing seven people at Sahapara union, said the agency's co-

GLITCH IN PM'S SPECIAL FLIGHT

2 suspended Biman officials remanded

COURT CORRESPONDENT

A Dhaka court yesterday placed two suspended Biman officials on a seven-day remand each in connection with a case filed for a glitch in Prime Minister Sheikh Hasina's special flight on November 27.

Metropolitan Magistrate Zakir Hossain passed the order after Mahbub Alam, inspector of Counter Terrorism and Transnational Crime Unit, produced the two suspended officials -- engineer Rokonuzzaman and junior technician Siddiqur Rahman -- before it with a prayer for 10-day remand for each of them.

Earlier on December 22, the two were sent to jail after their surrender before another court seeking bail in the case.

Nine employees of Bangladesh Biman Airlines were made accused in the case filed under the Special Powers Act with Airport Police Station on December 21. Wing Commander (retd) MM Asaduzzaman, director of engineering and material management of Biman, filed the case.

Seven of the nine suspended employees were arrested hours after the case was filed.

The same day, the seven were placed on a seven-day police remand each when they were produced before the court.

On November 27, a Biman flight carrying the prime minister had to make an emergency landing at the Ashgabat International Airport Turkmenistan on her way to Budapest as engine-1 of the plane was losing oil pressure.

After the landing, engineers found that a nut was loose causing the oil pressure loss.

The Biman authorities formed a technical probe
