

Bangladeshi photographer Shumon Ahmed bagged the photography award of the prestigious Prudential Eye Awards 2016.

Wasfia Nazreen, the first Bangladeshi to have climbed the Seven Summits, awarded by National Geographic Society with its Emerging Explorer award for her commitment to empowering women and girls through outdoor education and adventure. She is the first female to hold both the National Geographic Adventurer and Emerging Explorer designations.

Dipankar Talukdar (bottom) and Selim Shahriar are among a team of scientists and engineers who received the Special Breakthrough Prize in Fundamental Physics for their contribution to the detection of gravitational waves.