

Wewtubers

Being a YouTuber right now is the same as being a photographer in 2010. In fact, they are mostly made up of the people who couldn't bring themselves to sell their DSLRs. It's great to see so many people strive to make entertaining content [for free]. There should be something for everyone, right? Er... that's the problem. Why is it that all YouTubers make the same content? It's either a video on 5 Types of Stereotypes You Already Know, Stuff [insert area/stereotype] Guys Do, Bengali Reaction to Tissue Paper or something or the other. It's the same content over and over again by everyone. I know you're thinking I should be the change I want to see but I am too poor to make YouTube videos.
