

Beyond Words

Imagining a world without colours would be a real disaster for me. Since childhood, I have been obsessed with photography, though its intensity is far different now. Photography helped me to know people from different classes of our society. I am proud to be a storyteller through photographs. It has the tremendous power of keeping record of emotions, events and time. The journey with SHOUT was the most pleasant and fun period of my life. The team is full of extremely talented individuals with beautiful traits. Whoever gets the chance to work here is really lucky – and I'm happy to be one of them.

– Darshan Chakma, Staff Photographer, SHOUT.
