

Man for the Lemon

I am biased towards lemons. Or any fruit of the citrus family, for that matter. Let me present my argument. Not only are they bright – donning the colours yellow, orange and at times green – but I think they have a (genetically?) inherent quality of making food taste wayyy better. Savoury dishes are more flavourful with lime juice added, lemon-flavoured desserts have that intense tang – I could go on and on. I just realised that I can write an entire essay now that I remember how citrus beverages make me feel. I'll stop. So when life does give you lemons – it can't be all that bad, right?

– Kazi Akib Bin Asad, Sweet and Sour Boi, SHOUT

THIS WEEK'S HORRORSCOPE

ARIES

If you're coughing, it's best to just swallow honey.

TAURUS

Go green, okay? Only you have what it takes.

GEMINI

I'd recommend you ginger but you're already Ron Weasley.

CANCER

If I have an elephant, would you pet it?

LEO

Your destiny is to become the Butters of your friends circle.

VIRGO

Are you suffering from vertigo?

LIBRA

I heard you're very picky with partners.

SCORPIO

Yeah, you probably stink.

SAGITTARIUS

Don't play Genji either please.

CAPRICORN

As I walk through the valley of doughnuts...

AQUARIUS

Now that Trump is finally president, what are you gonna do?

PISCES

Everything changed with the Vape Nation attacked.

APP REVIEW

EGG, INC

RUMMAN R KALAM

Platforms: Android, iOS

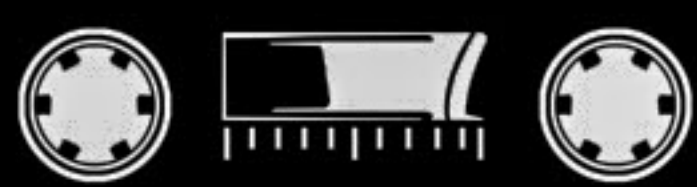

Idle games absolutely make no sense. You're basically watching numbers grow and there's a weird sense of accomplishment to it. Usually games have a reward for technical prowess and such but in idlers, you just tap and buy upgrades.

However, Egg, Inc takes that formula and polishes it up with great storytelling mechanics that feature famous figures such as Elon Musk (misspelled in the game, of course) and SpaceEggs. With each achievement and upgrade of your egg production facilities, you get to be a part of the grand scheme of things that basically involves eggs slowly taking over.

Golden eggs, the premium currency, aren't that difficult to find but the worst bit is that a grand majority of the golden eggs cannot be recovered without a $3 investment. Ain't nobody got time for that.

This game will give you a few hours of fun at the very least. Give it a try, it's free after all.

MIXTAPE

MUSICALS

Tom Waits

Somewhere

Mandy Moore

I See Light

Hall & Oates

You Make My Dreams

Tenacious D

Papagenu (He's My Sassafrass)

Diego Bonita

Undercover Love

Ryan Gosling and Emma Stone

City of Stars