

Aamir The Humble

Aamir Khan, who is still basking in the glory of "Dangal" said, "I am not a box-office king. I am only Kiran's (his wife Kiran Rao) king." Aamir also added, "Till today I never signed a film on the basis of its capability to do business. I prefer to choose a film from my heart. All the films I've done till now are those which touched my heart," he said. He also explained how the majority of his films lack the components of blockbusters in Indian cinema.

Source: The Times of India

Finally quitting "Keeping Up with the Kardashians"?

Following the robbery at Paris, Kim Kardashian seems to be making a lot of changes in life. She spends more time with the children nowadays rather than spending it at fashion shoots. "Keeping Up with the Kardashians" has been around for over a decade now, filling our lives with joy and laughter and just so much nonsense. But according to a new report from a tabloid, Kim wants to end all that. Is Kim thinking about making another major change? Is she considering quitting "Keeping Up with the Kardashians"?

Source: Internet

SHRADDHA Breaks Down on Set

While filming an emotional scene, actress Shraddha Kapoor, broke down into tears. The actress was shooting for her upcoming film "Haseena", where she plays the role of the sister of Dawood Ibrahim, Haseena Parker. Apparently, Shraddha got so immersed in the scene that she was unable to control her emotions. Director Apoorva Lakhia had to halt the shoot for about an hour until she could regain her composure. Shraddha's brother Siddhanth, who is playing Dawood in the film, was also a part of the scene and he tried his best to console his sister.

Source: The Times of India

