

COVER STORY

Fashion prediction 2017 for MEN

The previous year saw street style come onto the scene with men wearing long tees and ripped jeans; white sneakers took an unprecedented turn as it was now worn with formal attire such as suits, and bombers became the go to jacket with almost all winter wear.

These were some of the many styles which took the world of fashion by storm. With the start of 2017, fashion experts have made their predictions for what to expect from men's fashion this year. Here are a few things which you should be watching out for, to stay on trend.

