

UDAAN SET FOR A SEQUEL?

The critically acclaimed film 'Udaan' was set to be the pivot for actor Rajat Barmecha's career. The film potrays the life and struggle of the young adult who, battling with family issues, finally finds his place in the world. Rajat Barmecha said that his director, Vikramaditya Motwane had discussed about shooting its sequel ten years later. The actor said, "We were pretty intrigued by Linklater's approach of creating every part of the 'Before' series, where part released in a gap of ten years. We had thought of doing something similar. So, hopefully in 2020 we will see a sequel of Udaan." Originally discussed as a joke with Motwane, this update has got be our favourite "joke turned to reality" moment.

Source: Internet

NO LONGER AN ODOM!

Khloe Kardashian recently finalized her divorce with Lamar Odom. To celebrate that, her assistants got her a new driver's license themed cake with her old name and she was elated. "It's her new last name ... how cute is this cake you guys?" tweeted Kim Kardashian. Will this be the beginning of a new Khloe with less annoying reality television appearances? Only time will tell.

Source: Internet

DOING ALL THE DIRTY WORK!

The "Fifty Shades of Grey" renowned star says that she does not need a body double for the rather 'intimate' scenes in its sequel, "Fifty Shades Darker". When asked about the use of body doubles in some of the more 'uncomfortable' scenes, Dakota replied with "No, because it would have felt like a cop-out if I did. If I was going to do this job, I was going to do it 100 per cent and give it everything. I wanted to be true and honest to the role, and the character. I don't have a problem with nudity. I think it is beautiful and so I was OK with that." Since her breakthrough role, Dakota Johnson has starred in high-profile films including "21 Jump Street", "The Social Network" and "How To Be Single".

Source: Mirror

