

NO LOVE FOR BOLLYWOOD

Freida Pinto rose to fame starring in the Oscar-winning "Slumdog Millionaire" directed by Danny Boyle. While she is vocal about her upcoming international projects, she is not interested in any Bollywood projects as of yet. "When Bollywood happens, it will happen. You guys will be interviewing me then, whenever it will happen." Freida said recently in an interview. She also said that she has a mini-series coming out in April and is extremely excited for it.

Source: The Times of India

LOVE REKINDLED?

The fan-favorite pair of Emma Stone and Andrew Garfield broke up a while ago, much to the dismay of well-wishers. The good news is, they have been spotted hugging affectionately at a pre-BAFTA party. "I'm her biggest fan as an artist. I'm constantly inspired by her work. I'm constantly inspired by how she handles and holds herself," Andrew had said when Emma picked up a Golden Globe Award earlier this year. Ex or not, it is evident that the two have a lot of respect for each other.

Source: Mirror

THE PROMISE OF IRADA

Shamelessly boastful with the starcast consisting of Naseeruddin Shah, Arshad Warsi, Divya Dutta, Sagarika Ghatge, Sharad Kelkar and Rajesh Sharma, the bollywood film fraternity is all set to welcome a new director into its fold — Aparnaa Singh. The title of the film, as per her words will be 'Irada'. Arshad and Naseer will be sharing screen space, once again, after 'Ishqiya' and 'Dedh Ishqiya'. "It's always a pleasure working with Naseer saab. This is my third outing with him and there's so much to learn from him. He doesn't act, he becomes the character", Arshad shared. 'Irada', an Irada Entertainment LLP Production, releases on February 17 under the producers Falguni Patel and Prince Soni.

Source: Internet