are lacking fundamental values."
The Rohingya refugee crisis will be dealt with sincerely when the issue will come at international gatherings on refugees in the coming months, he observed.
"I hope Myanmar will make it possible for its people to go home. What I want to say until that happens is we have responsibility to support Bangladesh to make sure Rohingyas return. So, all these are not ending up. Bangladesh has already taken lots of challenges."
Defending Myanmar leader Aung San Suu Kyi's Noble peace prize, Brende said she had to struggle a lot to uphold democratic values by participating in elections.

"I think I don't need to lecture on this issue. I think people in Bangladesh also understand the complex political system in Myanmar. Still the army has a 25 percent share in the government ruling system," he said.
Hailing the bilateral relationship between Norway and Bangladesh for the last 45 years, the minister said Bangladesh had been able to maintain the economic growth.
"I think it is really important for a developing country, which wants to become a middle income country to ensure economic growth and foreign investments. It also needs transparency in government area and prevent corruptions."
Norwegian Ambassador in Dhaka Sidsel Bleken was present at the programme.

Hearing Billal's cry for help, locals entered the factory when the two SIs introduced themselves as police officials.
Later, a police team rescued the officials.
Police held Joynal, Shamim and Habibur Rahman Habib, of Sonargoan upazila, all accused of extortion and drug trading.

hassles of resolving hundreds of complaints, he said.
With the existing DAP's 15-year term expiring in 2015 and most of its vital recommendations on wetland and flood flow zone conservation remaining unimplemented, Rajuk embarked on preparing another 20-year DAP in March 2015 for the period from 2016 to 2035.
Though it was supposed to be completed by April this year, Rajuk extended the deadline till December.
But with less than half of the ground work done so far, DAP cannot be ready by December, said Rajuk officials.

Ashraf said he would probably need one more year, and hoped to complete the new DAP by the end of the next year.
Rajuk chief town planner Sirajul Islam, who had been the DAP project director for the last two years, said he could not complete the ground survey because the "1,531 sq km area under DAP is so vast."
According to the process, on completion of surveys and public consultations, the consultants will submit interim reports, and a draft plan will be prepared. After another round of public consultations on the draft plan, the DAP will be ready for implementation.
Sheltech Consultants Ltd and The Decode Ltd are the consultants of the new DAP.
