Man found dead in Tangail

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Tangail
A man was found dead beside the Dhaka-Tangail highway in Mirzapur upazila of Tangail yesterday morning. The deceased Dudu Sheikh, 50, of Singjar Modhyapara village in Kurigram was a cattle trader. The body bore several injury marks from sharp weapons, said Murad Hossain, assistant sub-inspector of Mirzapur Police Station. The body was sent to Tangail General Hospital for an autopsy, he added.

Worker dies from electrocution

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Patuakhali
A construction worker died after being electrocuted while repairing a tin-roofed house in Azimpur village under Amtali upazila of Barguna yesterday. The deceased Abdul Hai Howlader, 60, of launchghat area came in contact with electricity as he stepped on the roof of the house and fell down, said OC Sahid Ullah of Amtali Police Station. He was declared dead at Amtali Upazila Health Complex.

Workshop on technology held

BSS, Dhaka
A workshop titled "The Age of Tech" was held at Capstone School Dhaka recently. Britto, an educational platform launched by Footsteps Organization in collaboration with the school, conducted the workshop. The platform conducts workshops on issues which are not usually taught in school, such as journalism and entrepreneurship. Students, mentors and faculty members of the school attended the workshop.

Death anniversary

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Today is the 25th death anniversary of Dr. Abdus Subhan Choudhuri, former chief of Health and Population division of Pakistan Planning Commission and former director general of Directorate General of Family Planning (DGFP) of Bangladesh, says a press release.

A resident of East Bhaideswar in Golapganj of Sylhet, he was also the founder director of Pathfinder Fund in Bangladesh.

On this occasion, a doa mahfil was held at his ancestral home in Sylhet yesterday.

Biographies inspire

"Readers want to know about great leaders and get inspired," said Nabin Ahmed, a staff member of Sabujpata.

Prothoma Prokashan also brought out three biographies -- "Chhotoder Hazrat Muhammad (pbuh)" by Muhammad Wajed Ali, "Sher-e-Bangla" and "Nazrul Jibonkatha" by Morshed Shafiqul Hasan.

While, "Simon Dring o Onnanner Ekattor" by Rahat Minhaz was in high demand at Srabon prokashoni. "The book depicts the description of the events in 1971 by our wartime friend journalist Simon Dring," said Rahat, a teacher at Jagannath University.

Young bookworms were also getting introduced to the icons who changed the course of history.

"I love reading biographies of our Liberation War heroes," said Masum Billa Sami, a fourth-grader. His father, Nasir Uddin, a government employee, bought "Smritir Patay Saat Birshreshtha" by Julfikar Ali for him.

Meanwhile, Prof Fahmidul Haq's new book "Chalochitra Paath" from Adarsha Publication caught attention of many film enthusiasts. "The book is a result of my thinking on contemporary films and research on cinema," said Fahmidul, a professor at Dhaka University.

On the 24th day of the fair, 146 new books arrived, including five biographies. Of which, "Priyo Manush Sheikh Mujib" by Selina Hossain from Kishor Prokashon was much sought after by booklovers.

the textbooks which reflect the ideology of Hefajat-e-Islam, Pakistani racism, and gender disparity, he said the seeds of militancy were being sown as per a plan.

He demanded inclusion of the writings of "excluded" writers including Rabindranath Tagore, Lalon

Shah, Humayun Azad, and Satyen Sen in the textbooks.

Kamal Lohani urged the government and businessmen to set up billboards in Bangla instead of English before first Baishakh.

Jamshed Anwar Tapan, general secretary of Udichi, among others, spoke.

After the end of the rally, the organisers went to New Market and distributed leaflets among shoppers and traders, and requested them to write their billboards in Bangla.

Hefajat reiterates

Shahi Jam-e-Mosque, says a press release.

Earlier on February 4, Hefajat raised the demand. It also submitted a memorandum to the SC recently.

Mrinal Haque, the sculptor of the work, on February 4 told The Daily Star that the sculpture was a symbol of justice, not of any goddess. Globally, it is used as the symbol of justice, he added.

On February 6, eminent personalities in a statement condemned the demand of Hefajat.

Among those spoke at yesterday's rally include Hefajat Central Joint Secretary General Mawlana Lokman Hakim, Joint Secretary General Mawlana Mainuddin Ruhi and Central Organising Secretary Mawlana Azizul Haque Islamabadi.

Bangladesh Awami Olama League, which claims affiliation with the ruling Awami League, but the latter denies any such links, also raised similar demand recently.
