

BOYCOTTING Academy Awards!

"My absence is out of respect for the people of my country and those from the other six nations whom have been disrespected by the inhumane law that bans entry of immigrants to the US," stated Anousheh Ansari as she read a statement on behalf of the director of "The Salesman", Asghar Farhadi. The statement was made as Farhadi, who voluntarily boycotted the Academy Awards, despite winning the 'Best Foreign Language Film'. Ansari also added on behalf of Farhadi, "Dividing the world into the "us" and "our enemies" categories creates fear — a deceitful justification for aggression and war." Farhadi said in a statement that while he had initially planned to attend the ceremony, he had been forced to change his mind due to the atrocious travel ban put forth by Donald Trump.

ERRORS OF THE MAN WHO CAN DO NO WRONG

Ryan Gosling has never made a mistake before. Yes, you read it right. The man has never had any faux pas. With hellish good looks and a charm to die for, this man is an epitome of God's artistry. He had a good choice of films throughout his career and an even better choice of ladies. However, the lead of "La La Land" made a laughing stock of himself at the 2017 Academy Awards after he was seen sporting a ruffled shirt underneath his charcoal grey tux forcing Twitter users to call it, the "1970s suburban prom tux shirt".

DAKOTA JOHNSON IN A NEW LIGHT

We are used to seeing Dakota Johnson at her prime in all her sensuous glory in the Fifty Shades series. This bold actress has never shied away when it came to showing skin. However, her dress at the 2017 Academy awards was the perfect example of "on the contrary", when she walked in a rather modest Victorian dress. She sported a pale gold silk Gucci dress, with ruffled collar, long sleeves and puffy shoulders. It also featured a large bow on the front. All in all, was the dress absolutely hideous? No, but it wasn't the best either. Dakota, however, should get an A plus for effort.
