Anjan's in celebration of Pahela Baishakh

Anjan's has focused a lot on motifs and colours on their Baishakhi ensemble. The motifs have been inspired from a wide range of elements, from snakeand-ladder game to sandesh to Jamdani to wood carvings. In terms of colours, given the occasion, red and white are dominant, but the fashion house has not limited itself to just these colours.

Meanwhile, in case of fabrics, cotton and voile have been given preference although other fabrics have been used as well. The designs have been featured through screen print, block print, embroidery and karchupi.

Prices are reasonable. The wardrobe, catering to men, women and children, consists of saris, shalwar kameez suits, panjabis, fatuas, tee shirts, jewellery, bags, etc. Using the same motifs, different attires have been created - for those who want to match their attires!
