Sonam Kapoor Slams Body-Shamers!

Sonam Kapoor has been known for her 'no-filter' policy when it comes to speaking her mind. Whether it is on social media or in interviews, she has always been honest and outspoken about her views. Although this has landed the "Neerja" actress in trouble a lot of times, this time however, she was much appreciated for her candor. She recently tweeted: "Fat shaming or skinny shaming... It's still body shaming!" Not long after Anushka Sharma re-tweeted Sonam's tweet and captioned it "Word". To that Sonam replied, "Anushka Sharma, people are just J of you, because you're a self respecting intelligent successful beautiful woman!" Sonam and Anushka have been victims of body shaming throughout their careers for not matching up to the 'curvy' standards of Indian women. However, whether this was a retort to her haters or to make up for the controversy she got into with Abhay Deol regarding the fairness battle, is yet to be known!

JENNIFER LOPEZ Gets Grilled About Her Boyfriend!

Nevertheless, James Corden took the opportunity when Jennifer came to his "The Late Late Show" recently and grilled her about her relationship. He started by teasing her about her trip to Miami by asking, "Spending time with anyone in particular?" To which Jennifer blushed and replied,

"Please don't do this!" Jennifer Lopez seemed very happy throughout the episode, the credit for which probably goes to Alex Rodriguez. The couple also made their official red carpet debut as a couple at the Met Gala 2017. Alex Rodriguez was seen admiring Jennifer Lopez while she posed in her baby-blue Valentino gown.
