Wickets rock Tigers' chase

STAR SPORT DESK

Bangladesh were in the driving seat after a 136-run second-wicket stand between Tamim Iqbal and Sabbir Rahman, but a flurry of wickets left things on an even keel in the last match of the tri-series at the Clontarf Cricket Club in Dublin yesterday.

The Tigers were 166 for four after 33 overs chasing 271 runs to win when this report was filed, needing 105 runs in the last 17 overs. Mushfiqur Rahim and Shakib Al Hasan were batting on three and four respectively after Sabbir and Tamim each hit 65.

Earlier, for three-fifth of New Zealand's innings it looked like Bangladesh skipper Mashrafe Bin Mortaza had made the wrong decision by choosing... SEE PAGE 10 COL 1

Prospects" organised by The Daily Star, retired top generals and high civil officials said Bangladesh is now on the world stage more than ever before and is reputed as a nation of peacekeepers.

Not only are the Bangladeshi peacekeepers contributing to the peaceful settlement of international disputes and maintenance of global peace and security, they are also contributing to the nation-building activities to supplement UN mandates.

As a result, Bangla has become the second language of Sierra Leone, Liberia has named a street of its capital after Bangladesh, and a few African countries have set up schools naming Bangladesh Friendship School.

Bangladesh armed forces and police now have the capability to take up any peacekeeping assignment, even in a hostile situation, in any part of the world because of its high commitment and dedication to global peace and stability, they added.

Footprints of Bangladeshi peacekeepers are now evident in almost all the troubled areas of the world -- from Haiti to East Timor and from Lebanon to Democratic Republic of the Congo. The peacekeepers of Bangladesh are in
