

The equally beautiful patchwork saris and kurtis in turquoise, white, beige, burnt umber, Persian green and the like will definitely make you fall in love with subtle sophistication.

In all her designs, the maestro kept the styles smart, understated and chic, whereby the wearer could don the creation for any day time occasion including garden parties and friendly congregations.

We are usually accustomed to summer colours like white, pastels and corals. Besides all these, Chondon's has a steadfast experimental collection with all the bright hues existing on the colour spectrum.

Sometimes, the colour selection might come as a surprise considering the season, but that's where the skill of an artiste comes in. As a competent designer, she manages to pull off the bright colours wonderfully with a combination of simplified modern cuts and a chic look. The designer recommends the brighter colours for gorgeous night parties during the season.

Chondona R Dewan's summer collection was created keeping Eid-ul-Fitr in mind.

The collection is superbly in context and will be excellent both as day and night wear on the auspicious day.

Having said all that, everyone is encouraged to join in the shopping spree and visit her couture store in Gulshan 1, to get a first hand look at the striking summer collection.

Happy Shopping Everyone!
