Jobs still inadequate for 106 million working-age population

SHAKHAWAT LITON and MOHAMMAD AL-MASUM MOLLA

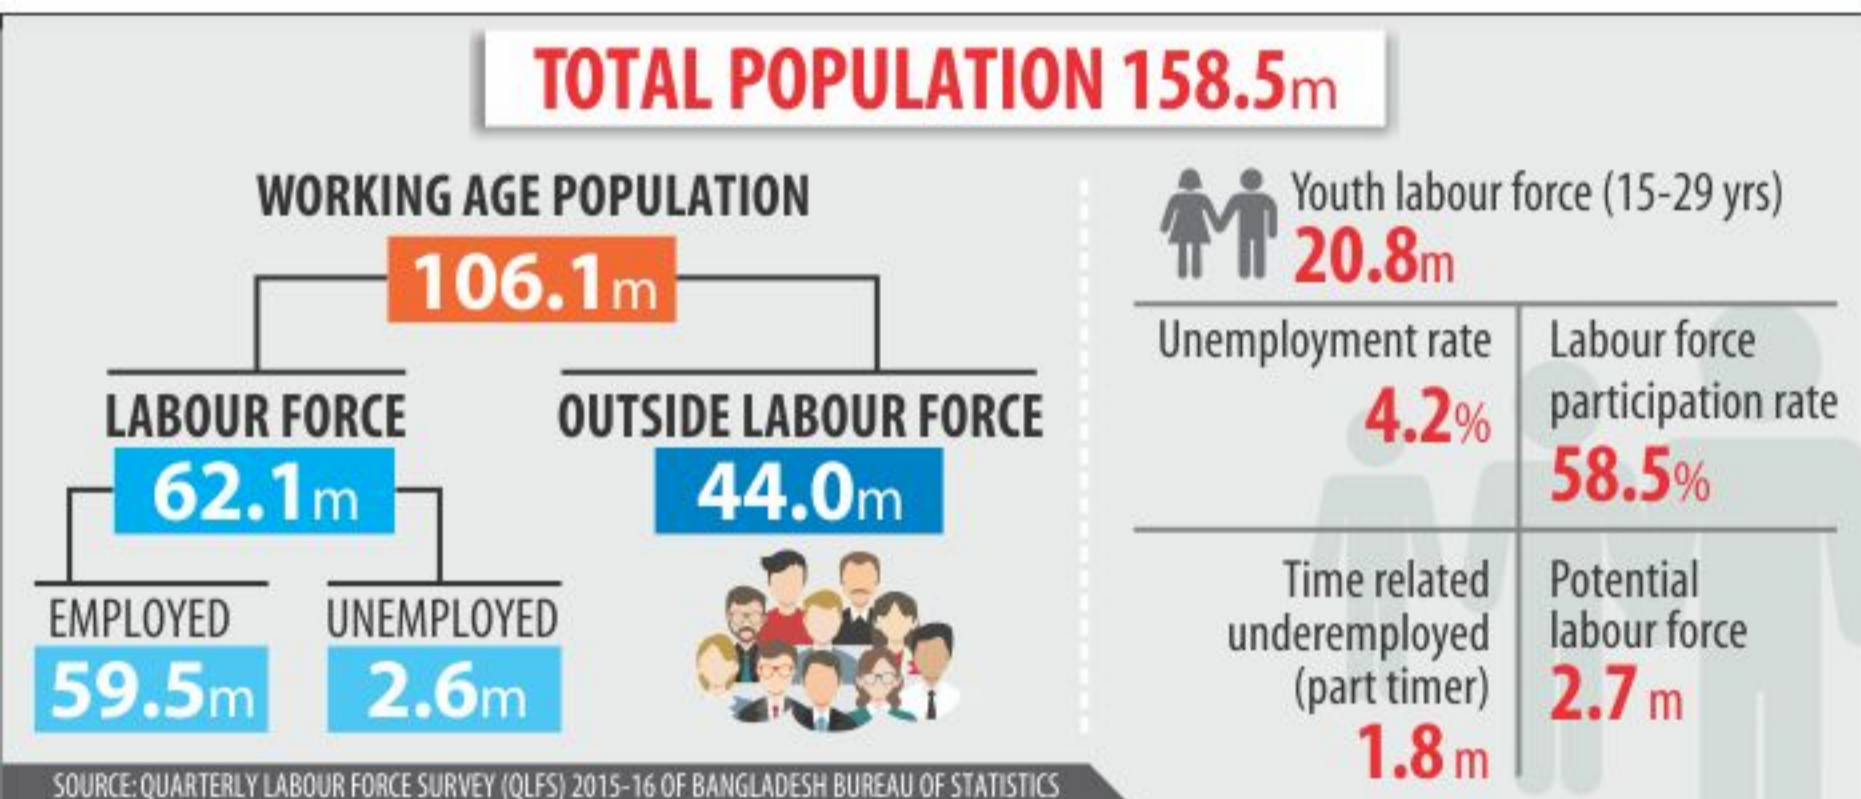

Bangladesh since 2007 has had more people of working age than non-working, known as demographic dividend, and by 2040 this window of opportunity to accelerate economic growth would start to close.

Now, more than 65 percent of the population are of working age, between 15 and 64.

Yet, Bangladesh is unable to exploit the full potential of the demographic dividend as it cannot create adequate number of jobs for the working-age population, according to economists and population scientists.

They suggested taking up measures including large-scale investments in education and health sectors to cash in on the demographic dividend.

Several lakh people hit by worsening floods in North; Teesta, Jamuna keep rising

STAR REPORT

As a result, several lakh people have been left surrounded by water with lack of food and pure drinking water. Many educational institutions are closed and hectares of cropland inundated. At some places, river erosion has taken a serious turn threatening to wash away homes.

People living in the affected areas have complained that the relief food allocated by the government is highly inadequate.

Around one lakh people at 85 villages of five upazilas in Lalmonirhat are badly affected by floods triggered by a sudden rise in the water level of the Teesta.

Water was flowing 38 centimetres above the danger level yesterday at the Teesta Barrage point in Hatibandha upazila, reports our correspondent.

Water in the Teesta began increasing on Sunday midnight and crossed the danger level early yesterday, said Mostafizur Rahman, executive engineer of the Water Development Board.

As the pressure of water from the upstream increased, the authorities opened all the 44 gates of Teesta Barrage in the morning.

"All gates of Gajoldoba Barrage near Shiliguri in India are kept open due to the onrush of water from hills. Therefore, the water level on our side is increasing alarmingly," Mostafizur said.

"We've told people living near the shore to go to safe places."

Nazma Begum, 44, a housewife at Bagdora village in Lalmonirhat Sadar, said there was floodwater everywhere inside her house, and so she could not cook food. "We
