

Ananya Pandey

The Latest Star Kid to Join Bollywood

Karan Johar has been looking for the lead actors of his next film, Student of the Year 2. After searching for a very long time, he has finally signed Tiger Shroff for the male lead. However, the search for the female lead is still on. Many star kids from Jhanvi Kapoor (Sridevi's daughter), Sara Ali Khan (Saif Ali Khan's daughter) to Disha Patani have been considered for the role but none could impress Karan. The latest buzz is that Chunky Pandey's daughter Ananya is now being considered for one of the female lead roles of the film. Earlier, rumors were making the rounds that Salman Khan will launch Ananya but seems like none other than the flag bearer of nepotism, Karan Johar himself, will be launching her. Ananya has been working hard with celebrity trainers and also taking dance lessons to start her acting career.

Source: Internet

VARUN-ANUSHKA

The Latest Couple in B-Town?

YRF has announced that they will be casting a never-before-seen-together cast for their next venture, Sui Dhaaga - Made In India. The stars are none other than Varun Dhawan and Anushka Sharma. The film will be loosely based on Narendra Modi's idea of Made In India. According to the writers, the film will be a heartwarming story of pride and self-reliance. It will also bring out the patriotism in all its viewers. Both Varun and Anushka are really excited to be a part of this film and looking forward to working with each other. The shooting of the film will start in January next year and the film will be released on Mahatma Gandhi's birthday on 2nd October.

Source: Internet

THE DARK KNIGHT'S

New Leading Lady

It hasn't been very long since Ben Affleck and Jennifer Garner filed for divorce but seems like the Batman has already found new love. Ben was recently seen out late night grabbing a bite with Lindsay Shookus, producer of Saturday Night Live. A source confirmed that they have been friends for a while but things turned romantic only recently. Lindsay is supposedly extremely down to earth and also has a lot in common with Ben. They both have successful careers in the entertainment industry while they also maintain positive relationships with their ex and put their children in top priority. Since their relationship is still new, they are currently taking things slow. However, neither of them has yet confirmed their relationship to the media.

Source: Internet