Job fair held at PTSC

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Panchagarh Technical School and College (PTSC) held its third skills show and job fair on Saturday to establish linkage between employers and PTSC graduates, said a press release.

Md Alamgir, secretary to the Technical and Madrasa Education Board, inaugurated the event, where 15 employers of different businesses and 278 graduates participated.

Of the candidates, 159 were primarily selected for jobs during the fair that was organised with support of a Canadian government-funded project.

Ashoke Kumar Biswas, director general of the Directorate of Technical Education, and Kishore Kumar Singh, chief technical advisor of ILO's B-SEP project, spoke on the occasion.

and hit him in his left ribs, the OC added.

Anwar's elder brother Monwar Hossein said his brother was driving the car as the driver was on leave. They have no clue about who could possibly attack him.

Anwar will be under medical observation for 72 hours at DMCH. Conducting an operation now would be very risky, he said quoting doctors.

The bullet is still inside the body, he added.

SOHELON FRESH REMAND

A Dhaka court yesterday placed Sohel on a six-day fresh remand in a case filed over Gulshan café attack.

The court passed the order after completion of his seven-day remand.

Meantime, militant outfit Neo JMB leader Jahangir Alam alias Rajib Gandhi, also an alleged plotter of the café attack, was placed on a three-day fresh remand yesterday in a case filed against him under the anti-terrorism act.

Too much to bear

Alauddin, adding that his flesh gets visible at different parts of the body. Failing to bear the pain, Mahadi screams most of the time, said his father.

When contacted last evening, Alauddin said icddr,b authorities yesterday collected samples of Mahadi's stool and blood.

A post on Facebook with Mahadi's picture recently went viral, requesting people to stand by him with financial assistance. The request prompted many well-wishers extend a helping hand to cure Mahadi's disease, said his father.

But the frustrated father wishes to take his only son to India for a comprehensive treatment, for which he will need a large amount of money.

As he is unable to spend such an amount, he hopes that the affluent section of the society will come forward to make his wish come true.

However, Director General of the Directorate General of Family Planning Dr Kazi Mustafa Sarwar denied that the family planning programmes were being less active.

He said, "Our works are not visible, but these are going on. We are providing family planning services to people through community and satellite clinics."

Hossain Zillur Rahman, former caretaker government adviser, said that to reduce the fertility rate within the time, the government should focus on family planning programmes.

Fazilatunnesa Bappi, a member of the parliament, urged men to play an important role in family planning as, what she said, they had the power of decision making in families.

Abdul Quayum, associate editor of Prothom Alo; Aminul Haque, professor of Dhaka University, and Taslim Uddin Khan, director general of Social Marketing Company, also spoke among others.
