

STYLE EVOLUTION

Jennifer Lawrence

Jennifer Lawrence is one of the most adored actresses in Hollywood due to her dynamic personality and great sense of humor. In this issue, we bring to you her style evolution through the years.

In her initial years, Jennifer Lawrence wasn't much of a Fashionista and made a lot of style blunders. She was mostly seen in ill-fitted cocktail dresses, with long blonde beach waves and heels that did not go with her dress at all. However, she continued to give performances in films that only made everyone realize what an amazing actress she is.

In 2011, she gained wider recognition by playing Mystique in X-Men First Class and soon we saw a much needed change in her style statement. She started wearing more form-fitting clothes that complemented her structure. She also started experimenting with her hair more by wearing straight and blow-dried hair.

Jennifer Lawrence soon realized the power of an elegant gown and started to wear more of them. At the same time she also started to wear updos more. The same year we witnessed her transformation from blonde to a raven-haired beauty.

In 2013, Jennifer Lawrence dared to do something most actresses can't. She chopped off her long locks for a sleek pixie hair cut. Her new style shocked fans initially, but needless to say, she rocked the new edgy haircut.

From then on there was no looking back for the style diva. In 2014, she topped the list of the best-dressed by wearing a red peplum Dior gown. Soon she started to experiment with sheer dresses. Very recently she stunned everyone in a sheer dress by Versace at the Mother Premiere. There is no doubt that Jennifer Lawrence is one of the most stylish actresses of the current lot!
