

PADMAVATI

Trailer Released

The renowned Bollywood film director Sanjay Leela Bhansali's latest film, Padmavati, had raised substantial hype among the fans since its first announcement. But with the trailer finally released to the public, expectations seem to have grown even more. Based on the story of the ancient Indian queen Padmavati, the film will feature Deepika Padukone as the queen herself. She will be joined by two of the most successful actors of current Bollywood, Shahid Kapoor and Ranveer Singh. The three of them looked tremendous in the trailer, and Deepika in particular shone with her ever-present charm and elegance. The screenplay and the songs, also done by Sanjay Leela Bhansali, have been the subject of much hype as well. Padmavati is expected to be released at 1st December, 2017.

HARVEY WEINSTEIN

fired due to sexual allegations

Harvey Weinstein is a multiple-award winning movie producer who has much fame to his claim. This time, he earns infamy by being fired from his own company because of a number of sexual allegations made to his name. The board of directors of The Weinstein Company, a New York-based film studio, has terminated their acclaimed co-founder after unearthing several cases of sexual harassment made against him by co-workers and actresses. It was reported that Weinstein has been subjected to many such cases in the past, but after a recent article surrounding his sexual misconduct with the actress Ashley Judd, things went viral. It is rumored that Weinstein has also performed similar ill deeds with iconic actresses like Nicole Kidman and Meryl Streep.
