

What GOES around; COMES around

Fashion in the '80s, '90s and even in the 2000s were very specific. Some things were already there, while others were innovations. Fashion, today however, is more diverse than ever. Nothing is ever truly 'in' or 'out', and every form of styling is appreciated. That being said, many fashion accessories and styles have revolved in the scene with little or no change, proving some styles are eternal and will remain forever as favourites; no matter the decade.
