

HC verdict on SC letter to ACC today

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

The High Court will deliver its verdict today on the rule issued over the legality of the Supreme Court administration's letter to the Anti-Corruption Commission about former Appellate Division judge Md Joynul Abedin.

The letter had said it would not be appropriate for the ACC to take action against Justice Abedin, a former apex court judge, who went on retirement on December 31, 2009.

Yesterday, the HC bench of Justice M Enayetur Rahim and Justice Shahidul Karim fixed the date for delivering the verdict as it concluded hearing on the rule on October 31.

On October 9, the HC issued the rule asking the then SC registrar general, the then additional registrar, Justice Joynul and the ACC chairman to explain why the letter should not be declared illegal.

SC lawyer Badiuzzaman Tafader placed a copy of the letter before the HC bench for necessary order.

The ACC on March 2 sent a letter to the SC's registrar general's office, asking for documents regarding the service, salaries and relevant benefits received by Justice Joynul.

In response, the SC administration on March 28 sent the letter to ACC, saying that if action is taken against the former SC judge, it will call into question all the verdicts he delivered.

The Jail Canal running through different parts of Barisal city can barely hold water lately. If excavated and taken care of properly, this canal could play a vital role in easing waterlogging in the city during monsoon. The photo was taken from Najir Mahalla area on Friday.

The prosecution filed seven charges against the 13 on April 19.

500 NU blank answer scripts go missing

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Barisal

Five hundred exam papers and 400 extra loose sheets meant for Barisal's DK Ideal Syed Atahar Ali Academy and College degree pass course under the National University (NU) got accidentally lost, claimed an official concerned yesterday.

Alok Kumar Saha, director of NU Barisal Regional Office, said on Saturday afternoon, Talukder Mohiuddin, lecturer of the college, forgot the papers in an auto-rickshaw at Nathullabad bus stand and went to buy a ticket of a Madaripur-bound bus. The auto-rickshaw was gone by the time he recalled, Alok added.

might not have taken treatment in the USA, he added.

"Amra Himu" was formed two years ago after the name of Humayun's most popular fictional character, said Naznin Priya, vice-chair of the platform.

She said the platform members run activities such as book reading and blood donation. Naznin added that Humayun's one of many dreams was to build a cancer hospital and the platform aims to spread his vision among people.

According to a new draft policy, the government would use the health development surcharge, collected from the sale of tobacco products, to curb tobacco use for a smoking-free country by 2040. Currently, the health development surcharge is 1 percent.

Humayun is often credited with revitalising Bengali literature. His unique storytelling style captures the oral tradition and rhythm at the root of Bangla, bringing to life the stories and aspirations of traditional middle class and rural families.

A nature lover, Ahmed found refuge in his estate of Nuhash Polli, a wonderland he designed himself and where he collected statues, flora and fauna from all over the world. Today's Doodle imagines Ahmed at his estate, meeting with Himu, a much-loved character from his novels who preferred the life of a vagabond and walked everywhere!
