

COVER STORY

WELCOME to the rest of your life

The big day has come to end and all the wedding she-nanigans will go down memory lane as a sweet recollection of stories to share later. The first impression matters, especially for the bride. Just as prepping to be the bride is a tricky affair, so is being the new bride the very first day in your in-laws' home. That is when close friends and family will visit to see the real beauty that you are, inside and out. Join the Star Lifestyle team to jot down all that you need to take with you to your new abode and step out on the right foot.
