Schoolhouse at risk

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Gaibandha

Teachers and students of Pashchim Bangabari Government Primary school in Saghata upazila are crowding for taking lesson in a single room of a nearly collapsed building, as ground soil under the building was washed away by the last flood.

Taking risk, students and teachers are attending classes in a single room just to cover the academic session. No measure is being taken to renovate the risky building although four months have already elapsed.

The school was set up in 1986 and subsequently nationalised in 2013. The school authority meanwhile constructed a building and now 165 students are taking lessons in the school conducted by three teachers in two shifts.

The floor of the schoolhouse sagged to the ground and cracks developed in the walls, and so, a large portion of the building might collapsed anytime, if it is not renovated immediately, said teachers.

During the last flood, surging water washed away soil under the foundation of the schoolhouse and one room looks like hanging. Teachers are taking classes in the next room amid risk.

"My daughter is a student of this school and anxiety grips the family when she stays at school," said Ansar Ali, a guardian of Bangabari village.

The students alleged that they are taking lessons in a tense situation, as the schoolhouse has become too risky.

Golam Faruk, headmaster of the school, said providing education to the students has become tough in a risky and congested room. Three more rooms are needed for the smooth running of classes but no response has been received from anywhere in this respect.

"Meanwhile, we have appealed to the authorities concerned for taking immediate measures to reconstruct the school building but no initiative has been taken yet," he added.

"A proposal for renovation of the schoolhouse with appeal for allocation of adequate fund was sent to the education ministry. The work will start as soon the fund received," said Azizul Islam, upazila education officer, Saghata

Initiative to save women from violence

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Jamalpur

A project for sustainable initiative to protect women and girls from violence was launched in the town yesterday.

The district police administration organised the programme at the Motor Driving Training School ground with Superintendent of Police Md Delwar Hossain in the chair.

Additional Inspector General of Police Md Mokhlesur Rahman was chief guest, while Deputy Inspector General of Police, Mymensingh Range, Nibash Chandra Mazi, acting Representative of UNFPA in Bangladesh Iori Kato and Deputy Commissioner Ahmed Kabir were special guests.

With UNFPA funding and cooperation of police, the project to protect women and girls from gender based violence (GBV) has been running in four districts, including Jamalpur, from July this year and will continue till December 2020.

Speakers at the programme said people of the district have to play vital roles from their respective positions in the community and even in the family to protect women and girls from any sort of violence.

While addressing the programme, special guest Iori Kato gave emphasis on concerted efforts to stop GBV.

"Violence against womenfolk cannot be stopped overnight, but if we work together sincerely to stop violence against them, the day will come when we can say that there is no violence against women in the district," said Kato.

Additional ICP Mokhlesur Rahman in his speech called upon the women in the district to raise their voice against violence inflicted upon them.

"Immediately after birth of a female child, the family and the community will have to take full responsibility to bring her up till she becomes an adult by providing sufficient nutrition and education so that she is able to think of herself as a self-reliant and confident human being," he said.

Pledge not to take, peddle drugs

OUR CORRESPONDENT, Patuakhali

Patuakhali police arranged a meeting to mark the event at Sheikh Russel Children's Park in the town yesterday.

Chief guest Deputy Inspector General of Police, Barisal Range, Md Shafiqul Islam welcomed the former peddlers and addicts to the meeting by giving flowers to them.

At the meeting, they all took an oath that they will not peddle or take drugs in future.

Police also gave sewing machines to 10 of them to create job opportunities.

The meeting was presided over by Superintendent of Police in the district Syed Moshfiqur Rahman. The initiative taken by the police is very different and it should be taken everywhere to save the society and the country from the curse of drugs, speakers said at the meeting.

Earlier, an-anti drug cycle rally went around the town. The rally started from Patuakhali police lines and ended at Sheikh Russel Children's Park at 3:00pm.
