

KNOW NOT WHAT YOU KNOW

Sometimes it's best to act as if you don't know anything. Why? Well, for starters, you can't be blamed for not knowing [in most cases]. Secondly, people might turn out to be sympathetic and actually decide to help you.

Take my recent experience for example. I had to carry out some important paperwork at a state institution – one that has a reputation to turn people with ADHD into zen monks in its waiting line. I decided to play stupid and asked every official on the way about the procedures that followed. And that did the trick.

I was greeted with bright eyes and Cheshire Cat-like smiles all the way through to the final counter. Never have I seen such passionate employees, trying to help out a helpless person. Confidence boost level 9000. I suppose stupid is the new street smart.

– Kazi Akib Bin Asad, Less for More, SHOUT

MIXTAPE TEA

LED ZEPPELIN
Tea for One

•

THE POLICE
Tea in the Sahara

•

SAMURAI
Green Tea

•

PSYCHOPOMP
The Tea Party

•

THE KINKS
Have a Cuppa Tea

•

MICHAEL HURLY

APP REVIEW

SECRET PHOTO STASH

RASHEED KHAN

Platform: Android

Everyone probably has photos they want to hide. It could be pictures of your crush or that one obscure and creepy meme that you found funny but if anyone else were to see it, it's solid evidence to throw you in jail. Vaulty is a photo-lock app that can act as a very good remedy to these issues.

The app is simple: you open up an account of sorts, set up a password and bam - you're good to go. You have the option of backing up photos online in case something goes wrong and your photos get deleted. It's also inconspicuous; as you can see from the picture provided, it's just a square with a 'V' on it, easy to skim over with the multitude of apps on a phone. However, on the off-chance that someone who ends up with access to your phone sees the app and attempts to infiltrate your photos, the app takes a photo of whoever enters your password incorrectly.

That's pretty much it, really. Apart from small drawbacks such as ads and difficulty in finding the photos you'd like to hide, this makes for a good, trustworthy secret photo stash.

Now, you might be asking me, "What's the point of this app when Snapchat's 'My Eyes Only' feature exists?" Well, I had no idea that feature was there.

THIS WEEK'S HORRORSCOPE

ARIES

Great men have tried and failed, are you good enough to make every my dreams come true?

TAURUS

Underneath the bus you will get on today, a dog had fun last night.

GEMINI

Atlas carries the world on his shoulder; his girlfriend is mad, nobody told her.

CANCER

Rolling on the floor laughing might annoy others, don't do it.

LEO

Astrophysicists could make up stories and publish them as science and we could never call them out.

VIRGO

Noel Gallagher's hairdo and your relationship with parents has one thing in common. The brother does it better.

LIBRA

You will be left behind just like your political ideologies.

SCORPIO

Eucalyptus is a tree, nothing in life is free.

SAGITTARIUS

Elephants are endangered species. I guess the environmentalists don't know your family.

CAPRICORN

Ninjas and Samurais are real, so are your greatest nightmares.

AQUARIUS

A Bangladeshi, an Indian and a Pakistani walk into an online conversation on cricket, literally everyone leaves.

PISCES

Internationally recognised as a party pad, my house is open for you.

