Digital Bangshal for AN ECO-FRIENDLY CITY

If you talk to people who were children or young adults during the liberation period, when the population was still countable, they will tell you that girls and boys would use bicycles to go to school and also to hang out with friends. It was a common sight to see a group of ten-year-olds strolling around on bicycles around neighborhoods. Back then the bicycles that you could see in every household were Phoenix, Rally, Gekko, and of course, Prince!

One common dynamic between the liberation period and now, when it comes to bicycles, you go to Bangshal. The added factor between the two eras is that now you can easily look up Bangshal on your devices, and you will have Bangshal in the form of a catalogue on your palms.

Bangshal has been the epicenter for bikes for ever. Now, with time there are bicycle brand options in abundance amongst more than 400 shops in that tiny area. You can find both Chinese and Indian brands like Hero, Avon and Atlas. Whether you want to buy a new bicycle or get it repaired, it is only common sense you take a trip to Puran Dhaka.

When you are in Bangshal, as a first timer, you may be overwhelmed by just how many bicycle shops there are in a narrow strip of land. But stroll around, go there early, talk to shopkeepers and take your time. And, if you have a particular type of bicycle in mind and you are also sure about the brand you want, do get yourself a decent bargain. Also, if you want an idea of the type of bicycle you want, most of the shops there have Facebook pages.

So, you can do your research ahead of going there. And if you are looking for Google ratings before you go to the shop in Bangshal, even that's available. Some of the popular to Bangshal are Lion Cycle Store, Cycle Heaven, GS Impex, Nazmul Cycle Store; all of which have four plus star rating.
