ASK condemns 'mass arrest'

STAFF CORRESPONDENT

Ain o Salish Kendra (ASK) yesterday strongly condemned "mass arrest" across the country ahead of the verdict in a graft case against BNP Chairperson Khaleda Zia today. A total of 1,786 persons have been arrested in the last eight days, said the rights body citing media reports. Leaders and activists of BNP and its affiliate bodies are being arrested across the country centering the verdict, ASK said in a press statement, signed by its Executive Director Sheepa Hafiza.

Even though police are saying it is a part of their routine work, their acts are contradicting Article 33 and 36 of the constitution that safeguard a person from arbitrary arrest and detention, and ensure freedom of movement, it added. Such acts will hamper people's normal life and create obstacle in practicing civic rights, it added.

"But it cannot be acceptable if it becomes a tool for repression."

Considering everything, the Workers Party called for withdrawal of the approved draft and fresh formulation of a law upon consultation with all the stakeholders.

Bangladesh Democratic Lawyers Association (BDLA) has also demanded immediate cancellation of the proposed act, terming it punitive, contradictory and unconstitutional.

"There is no need for formulation of a new law in the name of Digital Security Act, as the existing laws are sufficient to ensure state security," BDLA President Advocate Sheikh Akhtarul Islam said while addressing a press conference at the Law Reporters Forum's office on the Supreme Court Bar Association premises yesterday.

digital security act based on opinions and suggestions of the legal as well as ICT experts. He reminded that punishment for damaging the state security and public discipline has been mentioned in section 121 of the penal code.

He further said Law Minister Anisul Huq's assurance to provide legal support to journalists in case of harassment by the proposed act was a political statement as his law profession was suspended after he became a minister. Advocate Hasan Tarique

Chowdhury, international affairs He demanded formulation of the secretary of BDLA, said the proposed act would damage citizens' right, as section 8 (2) of it allows police to block information. The police can harass journalists from collecting information, he argued.

Organising Secretary Advocate Aynunnahar Siddique and Executive Member Advocate Arifur Haque Rokon also spoke at the press conference.

"Such diseases make health services difficult for Bangladesh because people with chronic obstructive lung diseases and asthma are going to need healthcare for many years and it creates burden on healthcare facilities," he said at a press conference.

Pneumonia is one of the main reasons for children's hospitalisation. Every year, Dhaka Shishu Hospital alone sees some 26,000 children with pneumonia complications, he said quoting the hospital data.

"If we can prevent some of these respiratory conditions, it would be a big contribution to improving health services in Bangladesh," Campbell said.

Noting that around 1.2 million deaths occur in South Asia a year due to respiratory conditions, he said RESPIRE intends to create awareness of the problem, help develop human resources and develop new technologies to tackle the diseases. Professor Aziz Sheikh of Primary Care Research and Development at the University of Edinburgh said RESPIRE wants to stimulate science and its capacity to tackle respiratory diseases, which have remained a neglected area despite the widespread toll it takes on human health.

be addressed properly. Many departments are following the decade-old curricula, she said, adding that students would not learn new things if the curriculum is not modified. Rounaq, also a distinguished fellow of the Center for Policy Dialogue (CPD), said merits rather than political affiliation should be the basis of appointment of teach ers and admission seekers. Chairman of CPD Prof Rehman Sobhan, who joined DU in 1957 as a lecturer of economics department and retired as a professor in 1977, shared his memory of the university. The book, written by 19 educators and scholars, identifies the fundamental challenges that DU faces and the ways to overcome them in order to regain its academic standing nationally and globally. The book, associated by German based Foundation Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung and published from Prothoma, is written in two different languages.

Dr Imtiaz Ahmed, a professor of international relations department at DU, and Iftekhar Igbal, associate professor of history, played a role in editing the book.

Titas Gas filed an appeal with the Appellate Division challenging the HC verdict as the original civil case was not settled in line with the HC directive, said Advocate Abdur Rahim, a lawyer for Titas Gas. The petitioner complied with the HC order and paid Tk 17 lakh per month until outstanding bill was cleared but has been paying Tk 7.5 lakh as monthly electricity bill, he said, adding, the original case is yet to be disposed by the judge of the N'ganj court. The lawyer however could not say what amount his client had claimed from the plaintiff as 12 months' electricity bill in 2006.
