Onion, garlic make growers solvent

Two villages in Shailkupa upazila are known as peyajgram

AZIBOR RAHMAN, Jhenidah

Onion and garlic farmers in the district have not only become solvent but have also bought land and constructed buildings with the profit they earned by selling their produce.

Charsondah and Paikpara villages in Shailkupa upazila are known as 'peyajgram' (onion village) for their contribution to onion and garlic production in the area. Amirul Islam of Charsondah village, called 'peyaj' Amirul, is well-known in Shailkupa and the district.

The farmer is expecting around Tk 3,60,000 from 425 maunds of onion. No other crop like paddy, wheat or jute can bring so much profit in a season, he said.

Amirul said he has constructed a two-storied market at Fazelpur in Shailkupa municipality for Tk 1.50 crore and a house on four bighas of Amirul said he has been farming land for Tk 40 lakh, and has also bought 20 bighas of arable land in Department of Agriculture Extension (DAE) Korban Ali said DAE has been providing technical and other kinds of assistance to the farmers.

A good number of farmers at Charsondah, Paikpara, Hazramina, Harihara, Dhaura, Hakimpur, Audha, Kamalnagar, Shitali and Dalilpur villages in Shailkupa are engaged in producing huge quantities of onion and garlic, said farmer Kawsar Ali.

District DAE Deputy Director GM Abdur Rauf said farmers of the district are producing onion on a total of 7,625 hectares of land this in the last season.

The upazila-wise break-up is 450 hectares in Jhenidah Sadar, 140 hectares each in Kaliganj and Kotchandpur, 560 hectares in Mohershpur and 290 hectares in Harinakundu upazilas, while the area of onion farming in Shailkupa upazila alone was 6,045 hectares.

The farmers of Shailkupa have been playing a significant role in onion and garlic production in Khulan division, the deputy director said.

Girl raped

On the day of the rape, the girl was playing with some other children near the family's rented house. Around 4:00pm, the parents noticed that their daughter wasn't there.

A vendor of a nearby stall told them a man named Delowar Hossain Delu, aged around 40, had bought the girl some candy and took her towards the bank of the Brahmaputra River. Three hours later, the parents found the girl walking back. Delowar was not far
