

Farewell

Change is an integral aspect of life. I find myself in a situation where I have to embrace it. I joined SHOUT as a contributing writer in October 2014 with no idea about how I got there. Fast forward three and a half years, I am literally counting down my remaining days as a sub-editor. SHOUT for me, has been much more than just a job. Working with some of the most talented young minds of this country to prepare the best content for the Bangladeshi youth has been nothing short of an amazing experience. I've had amazing mentors who have guided me throughout the entire time and helped me develop into the person I am today. The people I have worked with have shown me so much love that I can't help but feel inadequate and unworthy. I might be leaving SHOUT as a sub-editor, but I will still occasionally write for this amazing magazine.

I've conveyed my farewell messages to everyone except you, dear reader. So thank you. Thank you for reading and engaging with us on a regular basis. With that I leave you with the rest of today's issue to enjoy.

– Shahrukh Ikhtear, Sub-editor, SHOUT

APP REVIEW

A MONOCHROMATIC PUZZLE GAME

RASHEED KHAN

Platform: iOS and Android
 Developer: Bart Bonte

Good puzzle games are an absolute blessing and "yellow" is an app which delivers such a blessing quite beautifully.

Usually when people say 'good puzzle' game, you'd expect something that gradually gets more complicated and that's it, really. The problem with that is that it ultimately causes the game to lose steam plenty fast. Yellow, however, puts its own wonderfully innovative spin on it.

The goal is simple: turn the entire screen yellow. Seems pretty simple, right? Here's the twist: literally every single stage has a completely new blueprint for the puzzle. Not only do you have to figure out how to solve the puzzle, but you have to FIGURE OUT WHAT THE PUZZLE IS. What makes it nicer is that you don't have to spend hours trying to figure it out, even if you somehow find the puzzle too difficult to solve, like all puzzle games, it has a small hint button on the top right corner. All the while, your repertoire is kept company by a nice, chill soundtrack the entire time. All in all, a great puzzle game accompanied by an equally awesome soundtrack.

MIXTAPE

WOAH MAN, WOMAN!

ROY ORBISON

Oh, Pretty Woman

JUDAS PRIEST

Victim Of Changes

JIMI HENDRIX

Foxy Lady

TAME IMPALA

Why Won't They Talk To Me?

CAGE THE ELEPHANT

Punchin Bag

THE 1975

THIS WEEK'S HORRORSCOPE

ARIES

Today, you will get the gift of banana.

TAURUS

I swear you don't look like a PS4. You look great!

GEMINI

Tomorrow, you will have the pickle in the world.

CANCER

Get the next generation Voodoo graphics card. It's great!

LEO

Show me da real deal!

VIRGO

Stop crying. It's going to be okay.

LIBRA

Jolly good show, lad!

SCORPIO

If you want a cup, get a hiccup.

SAGITTARIUS

Are you sure you'll look great with that sombrero?

CAPRICORN

You need to stop opening up restaurants everywhere, man.

AQUARIUS

She said do you love me, I tell her "yes".

PISCES

No wholesome message for you.

