Stars Aligned at Hello Hall of Fame Awards 2018

The Hello Hall of Fame Awards 2018 held last Sunday, 11th March, was truly a star-studded event. With the likes of Shah Rukh Khan, Ranveer Singh, Deepika Padukone, Shahid Kapoor, Karan Johar, Sidharth Malhotra, Mira Rajput and Kriti Sanon dazzling attendants with their presence, the night saw many currently prominent superstars receiving well-deserved awards. While Shahid Kapoor upstaged a lot of his competitions with the "Critics Best Actor of the Year" award, it was the ever-popular duo of Ranveer Singh and Deepika Padukone that stole the spotlight by being named the "Entertainer of the Year", Male and Female, respectively. The revered actor Rekha was given the prestigious "Cinematic Icon of the Year" accolade, while the young Kriti Sanon was named as the "Style Icon of the Year". Among other award winners were Karan Johar, Sidharth Malhotra and Shweta Nanda.

Sonam Kapoor calls out DONALD TRUMP!

In a move that was admired by many, Sonam Kapoor has publicly slammed Donald Trump in her Twitter account. Calling the US President an "imbecile" for recently lifting the hunting ban on elephants, the popular Indian actor has not missed a step in expressing her stern concern about American laws. "Hunting is illegal in India, one of the things the world can learn from us!" stated Sonam in the Twitter post, calling out the cruelty of hunting and the endangerment it has been causing to many wild species across the world. Her concern has been shared by many on social media, and she herself retweeted Ellen DeGeneres's post on the same topic.

Nawazuddin Siddiqui under false allegations?

Nawazuddin Siddiqui is an acclaimed actor known for his multiple award wins and prominent support roles in hit movies. However, this 2012 National Film Award winner is currently in serious jeopardy of having his hard-earned fame besmirched. A recent call-data record report accused the actor of spying on his wife Aaliya Siddiqui, with the report being anonymously tipped to the Thane police station. After the couple was requested to meet with the local authority and brought under questioning.

Nawazuddin went on an outrage on social media, saying how he was "disgusted" at this random controversy. His wife, surprise to most, had defended her husband and wrote a long statement on Twitter which emphasized on how "he is a soft target". Currently the CDR report has been left hanging by the police with no definite measures taken yet, so we can't say for certain who's innocent just yet!
