

HERE AND NOW

Being young is tricky business. It's great because you have time on your side, and the freedom to choose your path, something people with years behind them are constantly keen to remind us of. But what they often forget about their own heydays is that you are often lost if there are too many ways to go, and how truly daunting the fear of the perils that lie beyond the haze is. You're the new guy with the fresh blood wherever you go, and it takes time before you manage to define yourself as something more than that.

Having said all that, being young is great when you have things to learn and people to learn from. Being new is just as great if it's at a place you want to be a part of. Here's to being new and young for an adequate amount of time, until you're old and hopefully, wise.

APP REVIEW

DON'T LET YOUR PHONE DISTRACT YOU

MOHUA MOULI

Platforms: Android

If you are the kind of person who is usually caught fiddling with a smart phone like you have nothing else to do in this world, then this is the game for you. It does absolutely nothing.

The game, aptly named "There is no game", might just kill you with curiosity as a thick accented voice tells you to go away, the minute the game starts. The clever intro is hardly the main attraction of this experience. If you disobey the instructor and wait around, you will end up staring at a blank screen with the name of the game written on it in 8-bit and wonder what you should do. The faint hearted among you may choose to leave because the wait for something to actually happen could be too long to bear. You could however, choose to stick around and wait for a special surprise. So does something actually happen? Well you have to be as attached to your phone as I am to find out.

So, if you have a lot of time on your hands and you are unable to sleep but are too lazy to get up and use your computer to play an actual game, then download this useless RAM eating app and spend your time even more unproductively than you did before.
