

Snapchat's Stock Drops after Rihanna's Denouncement

Snapchat has recently suffered a market value decrease of a whopping $800 million, all due to Rihanna publicly denouncing the app for an ad that they had published earlier. The ad, which features a game called "Would You Rather" that gives the player the option to "either slap Rihanna or punch Chris Brown", fell in bad taste with Rihanna. She felt that this game alludes to the domestic violence case that appeared against Chris Brown when he and Rihanna were dating back in 2009. The accomplished singer called out Snapchat in an Instagram post, saying that Snapchat wasted money in animating "something that would intentionally bring shame to domestic violence victims", and that the app made a very bad joke about domestic violence in general. Fans apparently resonated with this statement, despite Snapchat's apology to Rihanna regarding the matter. Similarly, Snapchat suffered a tremendous stock drop worth of $1.3 billion after Kylie Jenner announced in Twitter that she doesn't use Snapchat anymore.

Source: Internet

HUGH JACKMAN

Publicly Announces the End of Wolverine

After his emotionally stirring role in last year's film Logan, Hugh Jackman's role as the iconic comicbook character-come-to-life Wolverine was finally over. However, since then, many news sources stated that this was not the case, claiming Hugh Jackman might just return as the Wolverine with X-Men's integration into the Marvel Cinematic Universe. The rumors were put to rest when the actor himself addressed this issue in a recent interview. After being honored with the Best Actor Award at the 2018 Empire Awards ceremony held last Sunday, Jackman publicly announced that he would no longer continue as Wolverine or Logan. "There will be Logan, just that it won't be me," stated Hugh Jackman. He claimed that there was nothing more to be done with his character, and that Logan had truly meant the end of Hugh Jackman as the comic book superhero. One thing for certain; no matter who replaces him, fans will always remember Hugh Jackman as the iconic Wolverine!

Source: Internet

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS JIM PARSONS

"Bazinga!"

Chances are if you are a fan of modern TV series, you have come across this specific buzzword more times than you can remember. The impact of Sheldon Cooper in pop culture as well as commercial success is a testament to how brilliantly Jim Parsons has portrayed this famous character from The Big Bang Theory. Being named by Forbes as the highest earning male TV actor of last year and being a constant presence in the list of top TV stars, Jim Parsons has never failed to rake in the big bucks and a bigger fanbase. His role in The Big Bang Theory alone warranted him a Golden Globe and four Primetime Emmy wins, along with multiple nominations in various award ceremonies. Today marks the 45th birthday of this ever-popular superstar. Star Showbiz wishes Jim Parsons a fantastic birthday and many more successful years to come!

