

Aishwarya addresses sexual harassment issues

News of the Weinstein incident and the subsequent #MeToo revolution has been the prime topic of discussion in Hollywood for many months now. While there have been buzzes in other film industries, it seems Bollywood has something to add to it. Aishwarya Rai Bacchan, one of the leading names in Bollywood, publicly weighed in her own opinions regarding the matter. "Sexual harassment cases don't just exist in the film industry, they exist everywhere," stated the established actor, emphasizing on how general awareness on this alarming matter must be raised further. "It's good that people are talking about it, but it shouldn't be restricted to just one part of the world," she pointed out. It is to be noted that ever since the #MeToo movement, awareness has been brought into Bollywood as well, though perhaps not to an extent that Aishwarya deems enough yet. It is also to be noted that during the scandal revelation, rumors of Weinstein attempting to harass Aishwarya were frequently heard.

Source: Bollywood Life

Sylvester Stallone unsure who Salman Khan is

GRAPE VINE

In a sign of good faith, Salman Khan had shared news of the announcement of Sylvester Stallone's upcoming film Creed 2. Stallone, attempting to reply to the kindness, wanted to do the same by sharing news of Salman Khan's upcoming film Race 3. However, in a sign of nothing but absolute botch, Stallone posted a picture of Bobby Deol instead of Salman Khan. After Twitter angrily pointed out this blunder, Stallone reposted, this time with a zoomed in photo of Salman Khan in his Race 3 getup. Stallone even added this hilarious little quip in the caption: "If I get this wrong again I give up!" It seems he still isn't sure who Salman Khan is! Who knows how embarrassed Salman Khan got seeing this blunder!

Source: Hindustan Times

FARHAN AKHTAR SCRIPTING AND ACTING IN 'DON 3'

Shah Rukh Khan-starrer Don 2 shook the theaters during its release way back in 2011. A ripe seven years after, we finally have solid news on the much-awaited sequel. Being directed by Farhan Akhtar once again, Don 3 will be returning with the ever-popular Shah Rukh Khan as the lead role. However, Priyanka Chopra will not be returning as the third installment is said to be bringing in a new set of cast. A part of that new cast is going to be Farhan Akhtar himself, playing a role as a policeman as part of the local law enforcing authority in the film. The script is still unfinished, so not much else can be said for now, but the director-actor has confirmed that by 2020, we can expect the release of Don 3 in full glory.

Source: Times of India