

Alamgir's 'Ekti Cinemar Golpo' gets a Boishaki release

Pohela Boishakh is the ideal holiday for Bangladeshis to enjoy new films, so of course, directors and filmmakers alike are never shy of letting go of the opportunity. Alamgir, who is directing a film again after a long break, has released his latest film Ekti Cinemar Golpo just today. The film stars Arefin Shuvoo as the lead character, and Alamgir had previously commented that Shuvoo was perfect for the role he had envisioned. "I sincerely wish the audience will like it," said Alamgir regarding the film, "There was a lot of effort involved in presenting an enjoyable story to everyone. I plan on releasing Ekti Cinemar Golpo in around 50-60 cinema halls." Other actors starring in the film are Ritupurno Sen, Syed Hasan Imam, Champa, Saberi Alam, Sadek Bachchu and Alamgir himself. It was produced by Alamgir's production house Icon Entertainment.

HABIB'S BOISHAKI 'JHOR'

Habib has always been known for presenting unique songs on special occasions. Just two months ago on Valentine's Day, Tomar Chokhe Jol was released which presented Habib in a bizarre magician-like look. On the occasion of this Pohela Boishakh, Habib has released his latest song Jhor, which also features him in a brand new approach. The music video was shot and created with a cinema-style perspective, which promises to offer a brand new experience for the fans. The video was directed by Taneem Rahman Angshu, with Habib and Sharlina appearing in it as the main characters. Habib's father, the well-respected pop singer Ferdous Wahid, also appears in the video. The lyrics were written by Suhrid Sufian and the song was voiced by Habib himself. Gaanchill Music will be distributing the music video, so if you want to get a taste of Habib's Boishaki Jhor, you know where to find it!
