

MAHI'S false shooting!

It was a perfectly normal day in the life of Mahiya Mahi. Scheduled to do shooting for the brand new film Tui Shudhu Amar, she was ready to do her best and give it her all. But halfway through the shooting she unearthed a crucial fact: this wasn't a shooting for a film at all! All along, she was shooting for a music video instead. Raged at this sudden revelation, Mahi promptly left the shooting spot and didn't bother to complete her scenes. When asked about this rather eccentric incident, Mahi stated that the director and crew of the film had informed her that they were shooting for the film and not anything else. "I wasn't shooting for the film's song at all! It was a separate music video! I am hurt at being lied to like this," stated the actor. When asked about it to the director Ananya Mamun, he said the music video was apparently for the film's promotion. The truth may be still up in the air, but Mahi is still shocked from this case of false shooting.
