academic burden and stress," according to the report.
The report also said most of the countries typically have no regulations, or lack the will or capacity to monitor and penalise tutorial centres.
"Lack of capacity to monitor the centres in Bangladesh, for example, has undermined government attempts to cap tutoring fees."

It criticised the government's delay in conducting audit observations on primary and secondary education, and maintaining a complex higher education structure with four types of institutions -- public, private, national and Islamic universities -- which hinders the quality assurance.

The report suggested publishing annual education monitoring report, developing credible education sector plans, keeping the education budgets and its use transparent, and conducting monitoring on related bodies, educational institutions and teachers.
Speaking as the chief guest, Education Minister Nurul Islam Nahid said he is determined to ensure accountability and eradicate corruption from the education sector.

Sohrab Hossain, secretary to Secondary and Higher Education Division; Md Alamgir, secretary to Technical and Madrasa Education Division; and Beatrice Kaldun, head and representative of Unesco Dhaka Office, also spoke.

also a vice president of Dhaka city Awami League, said.
He requested police to bring and use machines to detect drivers and helpers consuming yaba and if found guilty, take action against them. "If we can't stop it, our country will be destroyed," he said.
Baten Babu, vice president of DRTOA, said comparatively young drivers are more vulnerable to drug use, which must be stopped for the sake of road safety.

Mir Rezaul Alam, additional commissioner (traffic division) of DMP, asked drivers, "When you drive, you take the responsibility of all passengers. How could you take drugs with them on board?"

He said many owners give their vehicles to underage drivers, and those without driving licence. "No one should give a licence of death, by giving a vehicle to an underage driver," he said.

He requested drivers to refrain from driving recklessly, overtaking and overloading, to reduce road accidents.

Referring to recent accidents, Enayetullah said two bus companies were handed Tk 2 crores in fines by courts. "We respect the court's order, but if a passenger keeps their head or hand outside the bus and an accident takes place, who will take the responsibility?" he said.
If an accident takes place due to the fault of a bus driver, action could be taken. But the court should also consider if the accident took place due to a passenger's fault, he added.

Several other police officials and leaders of transport owners' and workers' unions also spoke at the meeting.

Audrey Maillot, team leader of governance, delegation of the European Union to Bangladesh, said, "In a perfect world, migration should be a win-win pattern where both communities and countries -- the originating and receiving -- equally benefit. Unfortunately it is far from being as simple as that."

Gazi Mohammad, director general of Wage Earners' Welfare Board, said it is not sufficient to fulfill the requirement of the migrant workers with limited resources.

He, however, said if the budget is increased they would be able to address their issues in an appropriate manner.

Lawmaker Hosne Ara Lutfia Dalia, co-chair of the parliamentary caucus on migration and development, ensured that she would work for the betterment of the migrant workers.

reporters some photographs of Raju's body.
The family alleged that Raju was beaten severely before being shot.

"The Rab was used for killing him," alleged Raju's uncle Rafiqul Islam.

Talking to our Narayanjan correspondent, Maj Manjur Mahede, a company commander of Rab-1, however, denied the allegation. The family can make any allegation as they lost their child, he added.

He said the "shootout" that left Raju dead took place between Rab and criminals when a Rab team went to 300 Feet Road area in Rugganj area after receiving information that a gang of muggers had gathered there.

At the news conference, the family did not respond to a number of queries regarding the occupation of the family. They only said they were already in "a lot of trouble and were getting threats".

The family, however, said Raju was kidnapped in 2014 by a ward councillor in Rugganj municipality and was rescued with the intervention of a local lawmaker. They did not disclose the name of the councillor.

Raju's mother Yeasmin Begum broke down in tears when Samu was reading out a written statement. "They tortured my son to death. Now all I want is justice."

Raju's father Shamim Prodhman was in tears during the conference and was unable to speak.

Rugganj police charged Raju with attempted murder and rape of a girl. The family however claimed that Raju had a romantic relations with the girl.
