

UK PM secures cabinet backing for 'soft Brexit'

AGENCIES

British Prime Minister Theresa May has secured approval from her cabinet to negotiate "a businessfriendly" deal to leave the European Union but drew anger from hardline 'Brexiteers' and members of the opposition over her strategy to leave the bloc. After a marathon 12-hour meeting at her Chequers residence on Friday, the prime minister seemed to have persuaded the most vocal Brexit campaigners in her cabinet to back plans for a new UK-EU agreement. In a statement released late in the evening, she said the 26 cabinet members in attendance reached a "collective" agreement that would see the UK agree to negotiate a "common rulebook for all goods" in a combined customs territory. May said her cabinet also agreed to negotiate for regulations for industrial and agro-food goods, ending the free movement of people, the supremacy of the European court and "vast" payments to the bloc.

"This is a proposal that I believe will be good for the UK and good for the EU and I look forward to it being received positively," she told reporters. The Times newspaper said, without citing sources, that May was taking a hard line and had promised senior allies that she would sack Foreign Minister Boris Johnson, a Brexit supporter, if he tried "to undermine the peace deal". The EU's chief Brexit negotiator Michel Barnier, who previously suggested the EU would be willing to shift its position if the UK relaxed some of its "red lines", welcomed the agreement on Twitter.

AFP, Seoul

'My life is not your porn'

South Korea women stage mass

rally protesting 'spycam porn'

Tens of thousands of South Korean women yesterday

angrily urged the government to crack down on secretly-filmed spycam pornography in one of the biggest-ever

So-called spycam videos have become increasingly common in the South, where men caught secretly filming

women -- in schools and workplaces, toilets and changing

Distributing pornography is illegal in South Korea, but such videos are widely shared on porn sites and Internet

chatrooms or used in adverts for websites promoting prostithem! Those who watch them! All of them should be punished sternly!" the protestors chanted in unison at the rally

Many held banners reading "My life is not your porn"

Organisers said around 55,000 women took part in the

"I and my friends always look around to see if there are any suspicious holes on a wall or a door whenever we walk into a public toilet stall," a 22-year-old protester who

"What kind of country has South Korea become? A coun-

The number of spycam crimes surged from about 1,100

in 2010 to more than 6,500 last year, but most offenders were fined or given suspended jail terms described by many women's rights groups as a mere slap on the wrist. The offenders -- mostly men -- have included college professors,

school teachers, doctors, church pastors, public servants,

Such practices have become so rampant that all manufacturers of smartphones sold in the South are required to ensure the cameras on their devices make a loud shutter

try where women can't even pee without having to worry and "We're humans, not a sexual object for your sick fan-demonstration. Most of the protesters were teenagers or those in their 20s -- a demographic seen as the main target of "Those men who film such videos! Those who upload tution and gambling.

held in central Seoul.

the spycam epidemic.

declined to be named told AFP.

about having their butts filmed in secret?"

police officers and even a court judge.

sound when taking photos.

female-only protests in the country.

rooms -- make headlines on a daily basis.

US demands 'rapacious'

Pyongyang slams Washington as Pompeo ends 2-day 'productive' tour

AFP, Pyongyang

North Korea slammed the United States for making "rapacious" demands during critical denuclearisation talks yesterday, after US Secretary of State Mike Pompeo had earlier described them as "productive".

The North's foreign ministry said the "extremely regrettable" US attitude during the meeting violated the spirit of the agreement reached between leader Kim Jong Un and President Donald Trump last month at their historic summit in Singapore.

"The US attitude and positions at the high-level talks on Friday and Saturday were extremely regrettable," the North's Foreign Ministry said in a statement, according to South Korea's Yonhap news agency. It lashed out at the US for its "unilateral and rapacious demands for denuclearisation".

This came just hours after Pompeo had characterised the meeting as a success, but critically without giving many new details as to how North Korea would honour its commitment to "denuclearise" in exchange for US security guarantees.

"These are complicated issues, but we made progress on almost all of the central issues, some places a great deal of progress, other places there's still more work to be done," he said.

Pompeo was speaking after emerging from more than eight hours of talks over two days with North Korean leader Kim Jong Un's right-hand man Kim Yong Chol in a Pyongyang diplomatic compound.

Last month, Kim agreed to "work towards complete denuclearisation of the Korean Peninsula" in return for security guarantees and an end to a dangerous stand-off with US forces.

Trump hailed this as a successful resolution of the crisis, but the short joint statement was not a detailed roadmap to disarmament and it fell to Pompeo to follow up and put meat on the bones

North Korea says denuclearisation resolve may falter after talks Destruction of missile enginetesting facility discussed Repatriation of war remains to be broached at July 12 talks of the sparse commitment.

"We talked about what the North Koreans are continuing to do and how it's the case that we can get our arms around achieving what Chairman Kim and President Trump both agreed to, which is the complete denuclearisation of North Korea," he said.

"No-one walked away from that, they're still equally committed," he said, just hours before the North issues their own, less optimistic, view of the negotiations.

In practical terms, Pompeo mentioned only that officials from both sides would meet on July 12 as a working group to discuss the repatriation of the remains of some US soldiers killed during the 1950-1953 Korean War.

And he said some progress had been made towards agreeing "the modalities" of North Korea's destruction of a missile facility.

The North's statement said officials had presented Pompeo with a personal letter to Trump to convey hopes that the "magnificent relations and feelings of trust" between the two leaders would be reinforced in further talks.

Professor Yang Moo-Jin at the University of North Korean Studies in Seoul told AFP that Pyongyang was "separating US bureaucrats from President Trump, expressing trust in him".

"This is not to break the talks. The North is trying to get an upper hand in further negotiations," he explained.

"North Korea expected Pompeo to bring a concrete proposal for security guarantee but it was disappointed as the US side reiterated the old demand that the North should denuclearise first before the US gives it anything in return," he said.

The task of establishing the disarmament programme now falls to Pompeo, who is seeking a formal declaration by the North of the size of its nuclear programme as well as an eventual timetable for it to be ended under international verification and inspection.

FLOODING, LANDSLIDES IN JAPAN

Japan's Meteorological Agency retained special weather

Helicopter footage showed people on their roofs

By Saturday morning, more than 1.6 million people

Chief Cabinet Secretary Yoshihide Suga said about

'Don't worry

dad and mum'

Trapped Thai boys write heartbreaking notes to their families

The coach of the youth football team that has been trapped in a cave in Thailand for the past two weeks

The "Wild Boar" football team went exploring in

The 12 children, aged 11 to 16, are accompanied the Tham Luang cave network after a football game

on June 23 and got trapped kilometres deep inside

the cave system as floodwaters caused by heavy

by their coach, Ekkapol Chantawong, 25.

has sent his "apologies" to the parents of the boys

in a scrawled note handed to divers.

rains blocked the entrance.

AGENCIES

promise to take the very best care of the kids," Chantawong said in a note given to a diver on Friday and published on the Thai Navy SEAL Facebook page on Saturday.

"Thank you for all the moral support and I apologise to the parents."

Other touching notes signed by members of the team were directed to their families, many of whom have kept an anxious vigil outside the cave for a fortnight.

of the boys who gave his nickname as "Bew". "I have been away for two weeks but will come back and help you sell your stuff." His family are shopkeepers.

"Don't worry dad and mum," said a note from one

"Love to Mum, Dad and my little brother," reads one note from 15-year-old Phiphat Photi - who is better known as "Nick".

"If I get out, please can you bring me some grilled pork and vegetables?"

The boys, however, were already looking ahead and appealed to their schools not to be too hard on them.

"Teachers, please don't give too much homework," they wrote. The letters provoked a surge of emotion from families, who endured nine long days before their children were found and now face an agonising wait for a dangerous evacuation.

"I am so happy to see his letter, his handwriting. I'm almost crying," Night's mother Supaluk Sompiengjai, told AFP news agency. "It doesn't matter how long I wait, as long as he is safe."

An aerial view shows local residents seen on the roof of a submerged house at a flooded area as they wait for a rescue in Kurashiki, southern Japan. Photo was taken yesterday.

48,000 police, firefighters and members of Japan's Self-Defense Forces were responding to appeals for help. PHOTO: REUTERS Nawaz Sharif to return to

Pakistan 'within 10 days' Set to appeal against court verdict on corruption

AGENCIES

Maryam Nawaz Sharif, daughter of Pakistan's ex prime minister Nawaz Sharif, yesterday told reporters that she and her father would return to Pakistan within 10 days to appeal against a court verdict that gave Sharif 10 years behind bar.

On Friday after the verdict, Nawaz Sharif said that he is not a thief and that he will return to Pakistan soon.

"I will continue my struggle from jail. This is a part of the struggle," Sharif told reporters in his side.

accountability court in Pakistan on Friday in one of the four cases of corruption against Nawaz Sharif - the Avenfield corruption case, which is related to the ownership of four flats in the posh Avenfield House in London. Maryam Sharif was sentenced to seven years in prison.

general elections in Pakistan on July 25. The verdict, a potentially significant boost for the main opposition party led by former World Cup cricketer Imran Khan, immediately raised questions over whether Sharif will return to Pakistan from London, where his wife is receiving cancer treatment. Pakistan has no extradition treaty with the UK.

Agency said.

Sharif was ousted from his third term as prime minister by the Supreme Court last year following a corruption investiga> tion and banned from politics for life, but remains a powerful symbol for his ruling | Bhd (1MDB) scandal. Pakistan Muslim League-Nawaz (PML-

Speaking in London, Sharif framed the charges against him as a conspiracy by the powerful military, which has ruled Pakistan for roughly half its 70-year history. "If Sharif does not come back, his party is over," added analyst Rasool Bakhsh Rais.

"If he comes back, he will have to fight cases and he will be suffering a lot -- but in this way he will save his party."

Najib's children's accounts frozen

ANN, Petaling Jaya

A day after Malaysia's ex-PM Najib Razak's daughter complained about having her personal bank account frozen, three other children of Malaysia's former prime minister are also said to have suffered a similar fate.

Lokman Noor Adam, the president of the pro-Umno NGO Pemantau Malaysia Baru (New Malaysia Monitor) said he was informed that the accounts of Nooryana Najwa Najib along with Mohd Norashman Najib, Mohd Nizar Najib and Puteri Norlisa Najib were frozen by the Malaysian Anti-Corruption Commission (MACC). The accounts were frozen in relation to the investigation into Najib's involvement in the 1Malaysia Development

Later, Lokman lodged two police reports. The first was against Prime Minister Dr Mahathir Mohamad for constantly making baseless accusations against Najib from 2015 to 2018, claiming that the latter had stolen RM2.6 billion in funds from 1MDB.

The second is against MACC chief commissioner Mohd Shukri Abdull for freezing more than 400 bank accounts, including that of Najib's immediate family.

Najib on Wednesday claimed trial to three counts of criminal breach of trust and another charge of abuse of power involving RM42 million linked to SRC International Sdn Bhd, a former subsidiary of 1MDB.

In Putrajaya, Dr Mahathir said that Najib could go to court if he felt that the authorities were wrong in freezing the accounts of his family members.

AFP, Mogadishu Two explosions rocked Somalia's internal security

Twin blasts kill five

at Somalia ministry

Canada heat wave

The death toll in a week-long

eastern Canadian heat wave

has reached 54, officials said

on Friday. Most of the victims linked to the "overwhelming

heat" were in the Montreal

area, which recorded 28

fatalities. The other victims were reported in the southwest of the French-Canadian province, the Quebec health

death toll hits 54

AFP, Montreal

ministry said.

ministry in the capital Mogadishu yesterday morning killing five civilians, a police officer said, in the latest attack claimed by Shabaab militants. The Shabaab has been fighting to overthrow the internation-

Iran executes 8 IS men

ally-backed government in Mogadishu for over a decade.

AFP, Tehran

Iran has executed eight people convicted over two deadly attacks claimed by the Islamic State group in Tehran last year, the judiciary's news agency said yesterday. The Iranian men were convicted of collaborating directly with the IS jihadists who carried out the attacks on June 7, 2017, Mizan Online reported.

East Syria car bomb kills at least 18

AFP, Beirut

A car bombing in eastern Syria on Friday killed at least 18 people including 11 members of a US-backed force that has fought the Islamic State group, a war monitor said. There was no immediate claim of responsibility for the blast, but IS has claimed similar attacks in the past.

shot dead in Kashmir

AFP, Srinagar

Troops shot dead three stone-throwing protesters including a 16-year-old girl in Indian-administered Kashmir yesterday, as tensions rose ahead of the anniversary of the death of a rebel commander.

Witnesses said soldiers opened fire in the southern Kashmiri district of Kulgam after hundreds of people angry at an army search operation for suspected militants gathered to protest, some hurling objects.

The killings come on the eve of the second anniversary of the death of Burhan Wani, a charismatic 22year-old rebel killed by government forces two years ago on July 8.

Two Syrian activists wearing the cat and wolf Russia 2018 World Cup mascot's outfits perform during an event to protest against the bombings in Syria, in Binnish, yesterday. Thousands of displaced Syrians were heading home yesterday after rebels and the government reached a ceasefire deal in the south following more than two weeks of deadly bombardment. PHOTO: AFP

London, his daughter Maryam Sharif sitting by Both of them were convicted by an

The verdict comes three weeks before

3 protesters