Convocation Speaker

I understand International Islamic University Chittagong (IIUC) shortly hold its fourth Convocation at its own campus.

This is welcome news to all concerned, specially the fresh graduates who look forward to the day with enthusiasm and high hopes.

Founded in the early Nineties, the university received considerable support from guardians of the greater Chittagong region chiefly for two reasons - the university came up with certain new ideas, and it opened up opportunities for female students in a secure environment offering curricula that combined modernity with traditional academic values.

I trust and hope IIUC at its own campus shall grow, before long, into a modern centre of learning.

I wish IIUC every success in the coming years.
